Dumpster service ends Sept. 24

Weekend dumpster service for Romulus residents will end this Saturday, Sept. 24, it was announced today.

The service, initiated in April, as a result of suggestions received at the City Hall Suggestion Box, has been well received by Romulus residents.

To date, an average of 13 residents per Saturday utilized the extended hours from 9 a.m. to noon.

The large disposal area, located at the DPW headquarters, 34100 Goddard Rd., was manned by Fred White, president of the Romulus Senior Citizens Club.

In making the announcement, Public Information Officer Jay Young issued an appeal to all citizens to continue to take advantage of the Suggestion Box service at City Hall. Suggestions can be mailed to: Public Information Office, 11111 Wayne Rd., Romulus, Michigan 48174 or phoned in by calling 941-0666, Ext. 20.

Public invited to health meet

The public is invited to attend the second annual meeting of the Southwest Wayne County Mental Health Association to be held Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1977 at 7:30 p.m., at the Romulus City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Mel Ravitz, director of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board. This will be an excellent opportunity to learn of recent happenings in the field of mental health and a chance to raise questions with Dr. Ravitz.

The association, which serves the cities of Taylor, Romulus, and Belleville and the townships of Huron, Van Buren and Sumpter was organized in July, 1975, to work for the development of needed mental health services.

Current emphasis is on security needed out-patient services for children in the area. The association is seeking citizens willing to become active in the work of the organization.

For further information about the association or the annual meeting, call 941-9590.

Demand transportation for all students

Partial busing is restored; parents are still unhappy

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus School Board members are finding it very hard to please their constituents.

The trustees approved the return of partial bus service Monday morning at a special meeting last week before more than 800 residents assembled in the Romulus High School auditorium.

But the move to restore busing for children who live more than 1½ miles from school, designed to help a possible millage proposal next month, may have backfired.

It only seemed to greatly antagonize those parents with children inside the 1.5 mile range. Jim Hollis, a 14-year volunteer fireman on the Romulus Fire Dept., asked the board members if they cared about life, limb and safety of children.

"I'm afraid that with all the traffic, a child could get run over. When those buses start rolling, my kids will be out on the corner waiting to be picked up," said Hollis, who lives inside the 1.5 mile distance.

"You better bus my kids or you'll end up in court. You're discriminating against me and my kids and I will get a lawyer and we'll see you in court."

School Board President Gerald Budd and members of the audience a chance to approach the floor microphone and make their statements.

In fact, the four-hour meeting lagged on various occasions when the person at the mike started debating with the audience rather than directing his remarks to the school board.

"How are kids 1½ miles from school going to walk without sidewalks," asked one man angrily.

Another Romulus resident, Ray Ziegler, had questions about the board's apparent change of attitude. "Last week you didn't want my child to bus," he began, "now, this week, when you see you're going to lose a $1,000 in state aid for each absent student — there's a price on his head."

Budd opened up the special board meeting, the first after the overwhelming defeat of the 8.5 mill proposal Sept. 12, by explaining the situation to the audience.

"As was promised at Monday night's Board meeting, following the fifth consecutive millage defeat, this special meeting was scheduled to hear an assessment of our school district's current financial condition and to hear the superintendent's recommendations dealing with transportation," Budd began.

He told how the board was faced with a $307,000 deficit on July 1, 1976 and how it had been cut to $239,000 by July 1, 1977.

"Revenues for this school year were forecast at 9.95 million dollars, and expenditures at 10.45 million dollars," he explained. "Taking into account the deficit of $239,000, the board was then faced with a deficit situation of $740,000."

Budd told the packed auditorium that the board recognized it had reduced expenditures by approximately $900,000 in the instructional area last year. "The board, therefore, attempted to balance its budget by making all cutbacks in non-instructional areas. The greatest cutback was in the area of pupil transportation."

Budd explained that there were unresolved issues such as salary and fringe benefit settlements with the teachers and non-instructional personnel.

Then he warned his listeners, "Whatever the board's decision is tonight, you must realize that additional cutbacks in programs and services must be made in order to balance the school district's budget for this school year."

School Supt. James Garfield was asked by Budd for his recommendations.

"I strongly recommend that the board reinstate transportation to my original recommendation of 1½ miles," he said.

Garfield never had suggested eliminating all transportation. His recommendation has been the 1½ mile limit, but his recommendation was amended at a previous meeting by Gordon Silvey to eliminate all busing and it passed on a 4-2 vote.

At the board's Aug. 22 meeting, Garfield recommended limiting busing to the 1½ mile range and laying off 12 drivers. Ron Christensen made that motion and Gloria Chandler supported it.

However, Silvey amended the motion to read "total elimination of transportation", which included 54 drivers. The vote to accept the amendment passed, 4-2, with Silvey, Chandler, Jack Bath and Christensen voting yes. Wayne Avery and Shirley Lombardi voted no.

On the original motion, as amended, to eliminate all busing, Silvey, Chandler, Bath and Christensen voted yes. Avery and Lombardi voted no.

Garfield told the 800 in the audience that the current enrollment was 5,300 students, some 1,200 less than projected figures. "If that number prevails a week from tomorrow (Sept. 23), it will mean a loss of $1.5 million in state aid," he pointed out.

Garfield estimated that restoring busing would return 1,000 students to Romulus classrooms and mean a recouping of approximately $1 million.

Garfield further recommended that the board officially protest to the Huron School District for Huron accepting about 200 Romulus students into their schools.

He further suggested they should write to state legislators and the Wayne County Intermediate Board of Education of their concern. He then asked the board to direct its administrative staff to pursue the possibilities of holding another millage election.

All of Garfield's recommendations were approved by the board.

Avery spoke out in favor of restoring all bus transportation if the board was serious about passing additional millage.

"If we're truly going to have everyone work together, we can't alienate those within a mile and a half. We should restore all busing and have everyone work for the millage," he said to a rousing ovation from the audience.

However, when he moved to rescind the earlier motion (to restore busing to all students outside 1½ miles), he received four votes. Budd said a motion to rescind needed five votes to pass.

Even though REA President Terry Bird produced a "Roberts Rules of Order Handbook" and said the motion only needed four votes, Budd insisted it needed five.

Later investigation proved Avery and Bird's contention to be correct, however, some board members indicated they wouldn't vote to restore total busing if the other motion was rescinded.

Another important item was passed by the school board when they approved a fact-finding committee comprised of a cross-section of 11 of the city's residents to get correct school information to all the people of the city.

No rest for "Cuckoo's nest"

Stewart fires 3 city employees

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

There are two sides to every question — except in Romulus, where there are usually four or five.

Such was the case again last week in "turmoil city" as charges and counter-charges flew back and forth in the wake of three firings of city employees by Mayor James C. Stewart.

Gerald Kubiak, public safety director, and Mary Carter, urban renewal director, were informed by letter from Stewart last Wednesday that their positions had been eliminated.

In addition, Marie Helms, who says she was a strong backer of Stewart the past two election campaigns, was dropped from her job as an outreach worker for the urban renewal program.

"While I was out to lunch, Bonnie Lozier (Stewart's secretary) came down to my office and laid a letter on my desk," Kubiak said.

"I didn't expect it. I did a good job," asserted Kubiak, who was appointed to the position in Feb. of 1975 by Terry L. Troutt, who was mayor at that time.

In fact, Kubiak and Mrs. Carter are both running on Troutt's slate in the Nov. 8 election and they feel their firings are the result of the wrath of Stewart, who was ousted as mayor in last week's primary election.

"It's not hurting me as much as it is the city," insisted Kubiak, who is opposing incumbent City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar in November's election. "I think the man is hurt and is taking his frustrations out on me."

Kubiak seemed genuinely hurt over the firing and was highly respected by many at City Hall for his impartial service as director of public safety.

Mrs. Carter has been an employee of Romulus for the past 18 years. She was a clerk in the treasurer's office in 1959, moving to the water department as bookkeeper, cashier and office coordinator from 1960-67. She has worked in urban renewal since that time, being named director on Sept. 1, 1975.

"They put a lock on my office door and put the urban renewal file cabinets in the furnace room downstairs and put a lock on that door," she explained.

She said four men brought her letter of termination to her house after 5 p.m. Wednesday. Grants director Stephen Bonczek, asst. director Gene Yagley, Aaron Jones and City Assessor Dave Krause took the letter to Mrs. Carter's home.

When asked why it took four men to deliver a letter to Mrs. Carter, Krause explained the situation.

JERRY KUBIAK

"We were instructed to go to the public housing building on Beverly Road and to secure the files of urban renewal," Krause said.

"Officials have just finished a federal audit and had some questions which still had to be answered. This does not imply that anything was wrong," he said.

The four men said they were on their own time, since it was after working hours, and delivered the letter to Mrs. Carter's house because she lived on the way back to city hall.

"We felt it would be better for her to get the letter before coming in the next morning and finding her office locked," one of the messengers said.

"There's no way I could campaign on city time," Mrs. Carter insisted in answer to charges she politicked on the job. "I don't drive and was at the office all the time."

Mayor Stewart is on vacation, but a spokesman for him claimed Mrs. Carter and some urban renewal employees used phones at the urban renewal center to make calls to help Troutt's slate get elected.

Another city employee alleged that Troutt campaign signs were attached to public housing units, which is against the law, and that Mrs. Carter is director and therefore responsible that they were permitted there.

Mrs. Carter answers that her firing was not a surprise. "Mayor Stewart's been against urban renewal and housing since the beginning — even back when he was on city council," she said. "He voted consistently against urban renewal."

Mrs. Helms was bewildered by her dismissal.

"My family and I have backed Mayor Stewart the past two election campaigns," she said. "We worked hard to get him elected. In this campaign, I couldn't get personally involved because I was working with federal funds."

"But my husband put a Stewart sign in the yard and Stewart signs on his pickup truck. He and our children passed out Stewart literature door-to-door in the rain this campaign," Mrs. Helms said.

"I'm part time and I expected to be laid off but not until after the job was finished."

Mrs. Helms said she was summoned to grants administrator Stephen Bonczek's office and handed her dismissal letter.

The three fired employees have joined the new union for city employees, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), Council 23, but are very disappointed with it already.

The three filed grievances and had a hearing Monday but were told the new union couldn't do anything for them. "We're going to contact the State Labor Relations Board," Kubiak said Tuesday morning.

"I may even sue the new union for taking money under false pretenses," he added.

"How can you tell if the person at your door is really a Michigan Bell Employee?"

As you may have noticed, our employees do not wear uniforms. They dress in the way they think is most appropriate to get their jobs done. While this permits them to look like the individuals they are, it really doesn't help you identify them as Bell employees. But, there is a way. Every Michigan Bell employee is required to carry a Michigan Bell identification card giving his or her name, photograph, and signature. For your protection, be sure to see this card before you admit them into your home. They'll be happy to show it to you.

City gets insurance for its 'fleet'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The City of Romulus is very pleased with the insurance company that agreed to give them fleet insurance after they were abruptly cancelled by their former insurer.

State Farm Insurance Co., reputed to be the second largest in Michigan, has agreed to cover city vehicles in a policy which became effective Aug. 15.

It was the only willing insurance agency of some 30 contacted by City Clerk Leonard Folmar. Cities are finding it more and more difficult to get coverage and Folmar said he was especially pleased for the city's sake that State Farm will insure city vehicles.

Under the agreement, State Farm will also provide insurance for 11 other privately-

"It's the city's position that we should not provide a special high-risk, high-priced insurance for the few drivers that the insurance company claims have poor driving records."

driven city-owned cars which are currently covered by Citizen's Insurance Company of America.

The letter company cancelled fleet insurance on Romulus vehicles on June 23, contending that the poor personal driving records of 20 city employees made the city a bad risk. As a result, Romulus had to take out a policy with Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility, an assigned pool for high-risk drivers.

The high-risk policy was much costlier, but no other insurance companies would cover Romulus with fleet insurance until State Farm agreed to last Wednesday.

The company said it was willing to do so because the city has implemented a driver's training program for those who operate city-owned vehicles. Also, State Farm said the city was making a concerted effort to make its drivers competent.

However, under the new policy, some employees will not be covered to drive city vehicles. There were eight drivers that State Farm wanted removed from operating city vehicles, but two of those have improved records the past year and so State Farm agreed to cover them.

This six employees not covered by the insurance policy are employed in the Department of Public Works. They work in crews and will not be able to drive city vehicles under the new policy, according to Folmar.

"Actually, we were given three alternatives by State Farm," Folmar said. "Either the city lets these drivers drive that State Farm says has poor driving records and they would not insure us. Or we provide special high-risk insurance to permit them to remain as drivers of city vehicles, or they be removed from the road and State Farm will provide insurance for all city vehicles," the City Clerk said.

The city chose the last option. "It's the city's position that we should not provide a special high-risk, high-priced insurance for the few drivers that the insurance company claims have poor driving records," Folmar said.

Folmar said State Farm will notify Romulus of any city employees who develop bad personal driving records which would endanger the city's insurance coverage.

While bills go unpaid

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A big dispute has been going on between Romulus City Treasurer John Lewkowicz and the finance department the past few weeks over the meaning of the word "transfer".

Lewkowicz says he hasn't paid outstanding bills because there's not enough money in the bank to cover them. The finance department answers that there's not enough money in the bank because Lewkowicz won't deposit the checks he's taken in current taxes.

Lewkowicz counters with the contention that a transfer of funds has to be made. The finance department replies that a "transfer" is not necessary because it is simply a "reimbursement" from the fund paying the bill to the general fund. All bills paid by the city come out of the general fund, they point out.

City Accountant Larry Moore, who has been with the city for more than four years, gave a detailed description of the city's method of paying bills.

"In 1971 Romulus obtained a mini-computer. To keep from constantly changing our checks, we decided to use one type of check for paying all bills drawn from the general fund.

"When the City Council receives a warrant for several hundred thousand dollars, the cover page will indicate that several funds are reimbursing the general fund for checks on the warrant.

"For example, water, sewer, streets, or federal grant bills are all paid by general fund checks. After Council approval, one check is written from each of the several funds to reimburse the city general fund in the amount of the total checks mailed for that particular fund.

"Actually, the word 'transfer' should not be used, in this case, because we are reimbursing the general fund for monies already spent," Moore said.

Moore pointed out that the Romulus Finance Department has demonstrated this system for numerous cities throughout Wayne County and outcounty areas, and three different auditing firms have commended the department on the simplicity of the system and amount of time saved.

"If our city were not in a good sound cash position, we could not use this method. Deficit spending has never been the practice in Romulus," he continued.

"Many cities must borrow on tax anticipation notes prior to the end of the fiscal year and start their new fiscal period already in debt. Such is not the case in Romulus."

According to Moore, the Water and Sewer department has experienced an unbelievable loss in money since 1973, due to the large cost increases passed on by Detroit compared to what the department has charged city residents.

"However, with the new rate increase finally approved and funds available to cover the costs, the general fund will be relieved of supporting the Water and Sewer department as has happened in the past," Moore said.

The 29-year-old accountant, who is a Ferris State graduate, explained the only time a "transfer" is needed by council is when the money is going to be spent for some purpose other than originally adopted in the budget.

Moore pointed out some of the more significant reductions in the budget recently agreed upon by City Council for a Sept. 27 public hearing. According to the city accountant, a partial list of budget reductions include:

- $18,000 cut from the mayor's office — part time secretary and annual report.
- $1,000 from mayor's conference and workshops of last year.
- $100 from mayor's "other" account.
- $2,000 office supply allocation compared to last year.
- $150 from finance membership and dues.
- $100 from city clerk's "other" account.
- $300 from personnel conference workshops, membership and dues.
- $400 public safety memberships and dues.
- $3,500 pound master capital outlay.
- $3,650 from industrial coordinator, conference, workshops, "other", membership and dues.

Although the proposed general fund budget of $8,767,173 has been slashed $387,773 from last year, there will still be additional services after budget reductions, Moore said.

The new budget, according to Moore, includes:

- A $4,000 decreased cost to Wayne County by training their own staff to do the assessing.
- Romulus now becomes only the second city of 33 cities in Wayne County to do its own assessing.

"Actually, the word 'transfer' should not be used..."

Adequate police protection through professional, Wayne County Sheriff's department with additional police reserves. Increased fire protection through purchasing of new equipment.

Purchase of new rescue van. Demolition of abandoned homes.

Weekly rubbish pickup, while other communities have gone to bi-monthly pickups to save costs.

Convenient drop-off of rubbish for residents by part time personnel.

Additional weekend animal control.

Participation in the new People's Community Hospital Authority.

Expanded recreation facilities.

Highly efficient volunteer fire department. Excellent library system with county-wide book service.

Moore also mentioned the "outstanding federal grants department providing employment for 35 additional employees and obtaining grants for the new fire station, district court, many athletic facilities including archery range, tennis courts and environmental activity recommendations."

Carrier of the Week

Jim Butler

Jim Butler, 15, has been a carrier for Associated Newspapers for about 4 years, but the chore of delivering papers to his 100 Westland Eagle customers falls not on him but his 13-year-old brother, Bob. According to the Wayne Memorial High School student, his brother "does all the work". He and his brother share an interest in baseball, but Bob also lists basketball as one of his favorite sports. They are the sons of Tom and Kathy Butler of Westland.

Skateboard champs

Skateboard enthusiasts performed recently in the second skateboard contest of the year, sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department. Tim Wood, Bill Streety and Steve Medina all walked away (or should we say rolled away) with trophies. Tim won first place in freestyle, downhill slalom and obstacle. Bill finished second in

We the People meeting to air city problems

"We the People", a non-partisan, civic group, has scheduled a meeting for 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Romulus Public Library to discuss a host of problems confronting the city.

"There are a lot of people upset with the situation of the schools, the political scene in Romulus, and a lot of other issues," said Mrs. Midge Prybyla, a spokesman for the group. "We're afraid that each little splinter group will go off in its own direction instead of focussing on the problem areas and working of them together as a group of concerned citizens."

"We the People", which co-hosted the successful "Meet the Candidates Night" in Romulus with Associated Newspapers, was formed a few months ago to be a non-partisan group to help all the citizens of the city have a forum to discuss their problems and offer solutions.

"We want to urge all the citizens to work together so we can all work constructively toward the same goals," Mrs. Prybyla said. She added that progress on senior citizens' housing for Romulus also would be discussed at tomorrow night's meeting, as well as any other concerns of city residents.

"We urge all people who have problems or solutions to attend our meetings and keep us informed as to their needs so we can work together," she said.

CB World

CB Operation ID comes to Wayne

On Oct. 1 the Wayne Police Department will be putting Operation Identification into effect for all concerned CBers. While talking to Det. John Wright of the Wayne Police Department's Crime Prevention Division I was told that the plan is to have all CBers come out and have their radios engraved with their driver's license number, so that in the event of a theft there would at least be a chance of returning the radio to the original owner, should it be found.

The engraving will be done free of charge on Oct. 1, at the rear of the Metro Place Mall, located on Michigan Avenue in Wayne. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

When you pull in with your equipment all that is required is that you have your driver's license with you (and if you're driving you better have it with you anyway). An information card will be given to you to fill out and return to the police department, so it can be kept in its files for reference. You also will be given two stickers to affix to your front windshield and rear window to verify that your equipment is registered with Operation Identification.

This probably is one of the best ways (other than taking your radio with you) to protect your equipment. At least if it is stolen and then found, you stand a chance of getting it back. I would suggest highly to everyone with a CB radio to take advantage of the offer that is being made. If you have a base and would like it engraved, bring it along with you. It will only take a few minutes of your time, and it's well worth it.

Det. Wright told me that CBers are being recognized more and more by local police agencies and that they would like to work in conjunction with the CBers.

The Wayne Police Department also offers Operation Identification to homeowners. They will come out to your home and engrave your household belongings for you. All you have to do is give them a call at the station. So come on all CBers, get your bodies down to the Metro Place Mall on Oct. 1, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. for CB Operation Identification.

A REPLY TO BILL MACKEY
I recently received a column written by Bill Mackey of the Titusville Herald of Titusville, P.A. He was passing through this area a few weeks ago and heard the Watchful Eyes For Citizens in the Belleville area. A local stop was made along the way, according to his column to visit Little Lady of Belleville. He wrote very strongly in favor of the Watchful Eyes For Citizens, but this is also what he had to say.

"Now for the sad news...Other clubs of this type have been formed in the surrounding areas and are doing an excellent job. However, as is usually the case, jealousy has reared its ugly head. One club has deteriorated for the want of a better word, for all intents, to a social club."

"One of its members, who, incidentally, writes a CBers column for one of the local weekly papers, has taken it upon herself to snipe at these dedicated citizens, tries to 'scalp' their memberships by invitation to join their 'club' and has already blown the cover 'handles' of three police officers that work in close conjunction with Watchful Eyes for Citizens. This person seems to get her kicks out of tying up the official channel with inane chatter and thus blocking useful communications."

"GoodNIGHT! This person is strictly for the BIRDS."

May I say to you Mr. Mackey and Little Lady, it's true that Watchful Eyes for Citizens do their job and they do it well. But I feel that Mr. Mackey's accusations were very unjust and unfair, and I would like to see some proof from him to back up what he wrote. There has been no sniping or scalping going on toward your group. My biggest gripe with you, however, is that I would really like to see some evidence that I have ever tied up the official channel with idle chatter. You might as well forget even trying to obtain such information and eat your words right now because such information does not, or ever did, exist. As for blowing the cover of three police officers, I would suggest to you that you check out your source of information a little better before you write a column. I was contacted by the Wayne County Sheriff Patrol and asked to print the handles in my column so that the motorists would know that they were out there, if they needed help.

So may I say to you, Mr. Mackey, that the next time you try to write a column (for the want of a better word) why not check out your sources a little better and then look before you leap.

KH nets big auto contract

A major contract to supply front disc brakes for the new Ford Motor Co.'s Fairmont and Zephyr automobiles has been announced by Kelsey-Hayes Co., one of the world's largest manufacturers of disc brake systems for passenger cars and trucks.

The Fairmont and Zephyr will be introduced later this year.

The new brake system has fewer parts, is less complex, and has achieved significant weight reduction. Attachment of the caliper directly to the wheel spindle makes it possible to eliminate the separate anchor plate previously required. The caliper on the new brake slides on rubber bushed pins, compared to rail-slider assemblies used in the past.

The new front disc brake also incorporates a lining wear warning device which emits an audible signal when linings need attention.

Bill would require Congress's OK of postal changes

Continuing his efforts to upgrade postal services, Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has co-sponsored legislation requiring the Postal Service to obtain congressional approval of any change in service, such as the elimination of Saturday mail delivery.

Congressman Ford is a key member of the House of Representatives' Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, and is the ranking member of the Committee on Postal Operations and Services. He was a leader of the opposition in 1970, when the old Post Office Department was abolished, and the Postal Service Corporation was created. He argued then that the change would result in decreased service and increased costs.

"The proposed elimination of Saturday mail delivery is only the most recent example of how the Postal Service keeps cutting back on service, in the interest of economy," Congressman Ford said. "Unfortunately, any savings have not been passed on the consumer, for the price of first-class postage has risen steadily in the past seven years."

"The legislation I have co-sponsored is part of a definite move in the Congress to reassert our Constitutional responsibility in establishing postal policy," Congressman Ford said. "We want the Postal Service to retain its independence in the conduct of day-to-day operations, but we want the Congress, as representatives of the people, to have the final say in major policy changes."

Congressman Ford is one of 23 members of the House who have co-sponsored the legislation, which was drafted by Rep. Robert N.C. Nix (D-Pa.) chairman of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Earlier this year, Congressman Ford introduced the Citizens Postal Rate Relief Act of 1977, which is designed to protect the public from rapidly rising postal rates. Under this plan, first-class postage would remain at its present 13-cent level, for private citizens' personal use, until at least the end of 1978. Rates, thereafter, would be adjusted up or down on the basis of the annual cost-of-living index. Rates for businesses and corporations could be raised, as at present, by the Postal Rate Commission.

Congressman Ford's plan has been endorsed, in principle, by President Carter and by Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar.

Child accounting procedure irks school superintendents

Wayne County school superintendents are dismayed by new procedures for child accounting, ordered by the Michigan Department of Education, which will bring every 10th child face-to-face with an attendance auditor this year.

The superintendents say the new procedures will be disruptive and will unduly penalize local school districts for any mistakes.

The Wayne County school chiefs aired their gripes this week at a meeting with state Department of Education officials at the Wayne County Intermediate School District's Education Center in Wayne. Intermediate School districts are charged with auditing the attendance reports submitted on the fourth Friday after Labor Day by each local district.

Kenneth Kocher, child accounting officer for the Wayne County Intermediate School District, said he and three other auditors would be speaking to every 10th child at each grade level at each school in the county. The same method will be used to check adult education enrollment.

"We will speak to each of these children to check his name and where he lives," Kocher explained. "We will also check his complete enrollment record in the school office."

"If it is determined that an error had been made in the sampling, the penalty on the school district would be multiplied by 10. If, for instance, it was found a student was not a legal resident of that school district and should not have been enrolled, then the total enrollment for that school would be reduced by 10. By the same token, any credit would be multiplied by 10."

This would mean the school district would lose state aid for 10 students, if one student was not properly enrolled. It was the ten-fold penalty, which dismayed most of the superintendents.

"This is not a proper auditing procedure," said Dr. Timothy J. Dyer, superintendent of the Wayne-

Westland Community Schools. "When an auditor finds a mistake in a sample he should make a larger audit to determine how extensive the errors are and not just automatically apply some multiple."

Dyer also charged the State Department of Education with "becoming obsessed by its regulatory powers" and that it has assumed legislative authority through oppressive rules and regulations.

Dr. Malcolm Katz, deputy superintendent for public instruction, said the State Department of Education had to get into the area of enforcement because "Michigan has a membership-driven state aid formula."

"The Legislature wants to know exactly how many children are receiving the $950 million in state aid each year," Katz said.

Dr. George Garver, Livonia superintendent, said that having auditors coming in "to eyeball 3,000 students" would be terribly disruptive to classrooms. He called the new procedures a "bad case of overkill". In the past, auditors have merely counted the children in each classroom for comparison with school records.

Another complaint by the school chiefs was a requirement for a more exact accounting of the minutes spent in school each day. The state requires 900 hours of instruction during a school year.

In the past, the schools have automatically added five minutes, for changing classrooms, to each class period. That is, a 55 minute history class would be counted as a 60 minute class. Now the state is demanding that the five minutes going to the first class and from the last class and to lunch be deducted from the daily total.

"I've already got my school day set and my bus schedules made up," said Raymond Spear, Northville's superintendent. "If I have to add 15 minutes to the school day to reach the 900 hours, I'll have to re-arrange the schedule and maybe buy some more buses. I'll have to re-arrange the schedule and maybe buy some more buses. I'll also have to negotiate with the teachers since their hours are some in our contract."

Spear proposed that the state delay implementation of the new procedure to give school districts more time for planning.

Katz said the Department of Education would consider all of their complaints within the next 10 days to determine whether any changes could be made.

An editorial opinion

A suggestion for improvement of political campaigns

During the next six weeks, residents can expect to hear from council or mayoral candidates knocking on their doors.

Residents should be prepared to be inundated with campaign "literature" and be given the reasons why certain candidates should be elected.

Before long, lawn signs will start popping up like dandelions.

Cars will be parading the streets of the city with bumper stickers and slogans.

And during the next six weeks, local politicians will be showing their fellow citizens, whether they are mature enough to run a campaign free of innuendo, dirty tricks, personal attacks, and the host of other campaign evils that area politics in the past has been accused of.

After the council and mayoral election two years ago, there was much talk of a need for a local ethics committee to police campaigns and hear complaints. A local council president formed a committee to research the possibility, but that committee hit a dead end when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional the state-wide ethics legislation.

So now it's campaign time again, and still we have no ethics committee.

First indications seem to be that we will have the same types of campaigns held in the past, filled with accusations from camp to camp and everybody crying "foul."

There is, of course, another alternative, and that is to put each and every candidate on the honor system. You remember the honor system don't you? That was the system used in high school exams where the teacher leaves the room, trusting each individual to keep the game honest when no one is watching.

It seems that at the beginning of every campaign, candidates make the appropriate noises by saying that "I'm running a clean, issue-oriented campaign."

And then the little things start — tearing down of signs, intimidation real or imagined, letters going out to voters warning them that the opponents are against everything from apple pie to motherhood, phoney endorsements, and on and on. The power of the whispered rumor sees its best use as election day approaches.

Well we won't buy it.

We feel that each candidate must be responsible for his or her campaign, for each and every piece of "literature" sent on his or her behalf, for every sign going up or coming down.

We don't buy the "over-zealous" campaign worker story.

Any person who wants to be elected to represent the interests of 87,000 people ought to have the sufficient leadership to keep his or her workers on the right track, to know every aspect of the campaign, or at least to entrust the running of the campaign to someone who will play by the rules.

There is no place for the "aloof" candidate who neither hears, sees nor speaks of his or her campaign, letting the workers pull tricks while claiming ignorance of the misdeed.

With those comments in mind, we ask now that each candidate send or bring into our office a copy of each and every bit of "literature" distributed in the campaign on his or her behalf. The "literature" should be brought in prior to general release, whether it is going out to every voter, to certain neighborhoods or to individual residents.

We expect the same cooperation from citizen groups who send out literature on behalf of candidates. If you are endorsed by a citizen or labor group, it is your responsibility as a candidate to make that group aware of this request and see that it is carried out.

And we ask residents that receive any mud-slinging or suspicious leaflets to send those along, too.

It is the anonymously sent out hate letters, or literature sent out with false signatures or slanders, that often appear just prior to election day.

Therefore, we ask candidates to abide by another request that will act as a safeguard for such trickery.

We ask that candidates in this election include from now on the name of the printer (not just a union label) on each piece of literature. In this way, each piece can be traced back to its source for verification.

Absence of that printer identification will indicate that the "literature" is invalid, and we will ask the citizenry to disregard it.

Naturally, this concern is most important in cases of phoney endorsements, personal attacks on candidates and the like.

Of course, we are not asking that candidates replace poll cards they have left from the primary. We are, however, asking for cooperation that in the end result can be beneficial to candidates and residents alike.

We hope that each candidate will contact us to assure us of his or her willingness to cooperate.

We are not trying to appoint ourselves as an ethics committee. We are trying to fulfill our role as watchdog for the people's right to know, and we will report and eventually make endorsements with that thought in mind.

On behalf of the citizens of this area, all we ask is that this campaign be run with dignity. The integrity of a candidate is a number one qualification on our checklist.

Perils of skipperhood

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

I'm sure I will never be the same again. A boat has come into my life.

As the newly ordained skipper of a 17-ft. yacht, let me tell you of the perils of indulging your decadent desires.

I have been travelling the road of life for the last 40 years, content in the pursuits that have classified me as a middle-of-the-road, middle-class, middle intellect.

Oh, there have been a few excursions away from the straight and narrow, such as a set of golf clubs, purchased in a moment of weakness and destroyed in a moment of rage, but in general I have spent my time in worthwhile enterprises, until 'boat'.

Now, I am sure you are all familiar with the story of the deal that was just too good to pass up; well, 'boat' was one of those deals.

Notwithstanding the fact that I have been harboring latent nautical fantasies 'boat' appeared on the scene at a price I could not afford to pass up. As it turns out, if the facts had been known, I could not afford to buy it either.

From the beginning, when Doc at the bank, with that all-knowing grin on his face, handed me the check, right up until I slid that fiberglass baby into the water, I could have backed out of the yachting business without any problem at all. But, as soon as I hit the starter switch, and the low rumbling sound of power permeated my brain, I was hooked.

Now, I don't mind telling you that until 'boat', the largest sailing craft I had been in was my 12-foot fishing ship with 5 hp. outboard. I vividly recall looking down my nose at the skippers of those power boats that would roar by me while I was sitting quietly along the bank of a river or lake. The huge swells created by those power boats at 40 m.p.h. were not conducive to quiet fishing. My 12-foot craft would roll and pitch while I muttered to myself about the obvious mental deficiencies of those who would prefer speeding about a lake rather than enjoying the benefits of quiet solitude.

Well, that was before 'boat.' On the day I slid my fiberglass craft into the water, and fired up that 120 h.p. engine, everything changed.

I was the 'king.' Harboring in my breast the certainty that this craft was the fastest thing on the lake, I fought the desire to ram open the throttle, and thus destroy my credibility with my four children and my wife. Playing it very cool, I idled my pride and joy into open water and slowly, very slowly opened the throttle.

As 'boat' picked up speed heading for open water, we came around a small peninsula in the lake. Reaching full speed, I looked back at the shore of the lake behind me, and there in the quiet water near shore, sheltered from previous view, was a 12-foot fishing boat rolling pitching from my wake, with its skipper shaking his head slowly and muttering to himself.

I was sure that he just didn't understand.

The Bald Eagle Speaks

Pride in workmanship is needed

By BOB AMEEN

Today, American car manufacturers are lamenting the fact that too many foreign made cars are being sold in the United States, with the total growing larger each passing year.

As one who has purchased a new foreign car, the answer, or at least one of them, became readily apparent — pride, pride of workmanship.

On my new foreign car, the paint was uniformly applied, the doors fit and all of the chrome strips were properly aligned. Overall, the quality of workmanship and level of quality control was markedly higher than on all of the new American-made cars that I had purchased in the last few years.

Years ago, Germany led the world in optical lenses, cameras, surgical equipment and munitions-making. Why? The generally accepted answer was that the Old World craftsmen took greater individual pride in the work they performed.

Currently, Japan has become an acknowledged leader in the manufacture of electronic products of all types, from calculators to television set, as well as automobiles. Why? They have emulated the craftsmen of the Old World by taking pride in what they do.

Being a nation with not enough land for its population and with little in the way of natural resources, Japan has had to rely on the high quality of the goods it ships to foreign shores to ensure a high return in needed dollars.

A general rule-of-thumb is, that if a product is good, better than good, the persons responsible for making it are those who take pride in their work.

Years back, the same situation was prevalent in America. Immigrants flocking to our shores who needed work, in fact who had to work to sustain themselves and their families, adopted the philosophy of doing the best they could in their labors in American factories.

But, over the years, with the growing influence of unions, the situation has changed drastically. Although it is admitted that unions have done a great deal to help working conditions and to obtain needed job benefits for workers, they have also contributed to a reduction in personal initiative and enthusiasm of the worker on the job.

Anytime, guarantees are incorporated into contracts between giant unions and large companies, they apply to an "average" worker. This naturally implies that some will do better than average, and that others will do worse than average.

But, in recent years, the trend, it seems, has been to produce work of less than average quality. Why? Because many union workers know, that regardless of the quality of work they perform, they cannot be fired and will always get their weekly paycheck.

Carried on to extremes, this could result in a national letdown in work performance that could earn for the United States the unenviable distinction of a nation noted for just plain lousy and shoddy workmanship in the products it manufactures.

It would seem that this tragic situation would put the onus on these unions to shoulder their responsibility of taking steps to correct and remedy this degradation in job duties.

Pride was once the one quality for which America and Americans were noted. Should we not all strive to regain that treasured commodity?

Health Beat

'Overweight,' draining the Fountain of Youth

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

History tells us that an explorer from Spain, Ponce de Leon, in the late 15th or early 16th century discovered the Florida Peninsula.

That same history would have us understand that de Leon used considerable time and energy cruising around the peninsula in search of a fountain of youth.

His efforts to locate this source of immortality were to no avail. Man continues to exist in a mortal world of genesis and expiration: death is the inevitability of life.

Because I'm convinced that at birth all of us are allocated only a specific lifetime, I must then be equally convinced that we ought to live those allocated years to the fullest.

The suggestion is not being offered that I subscribe to the 'eat, drink, and make merry' philosophy; quite the contrary. I'm convinced that our life style ought to be one which appreciates the gift of life, and thus is devoted to guarding jealously against any behavior which might jeopardize the quality of our limited existence.

I'm going to address today a physical phenomenon which, although fodder for many jokes, is a serious health problem in our nation. I'm talking about overweight and obesity.

There is on the market today an absolute plethora of books which, for a couple of bucks, will give to the unwary the lost secrets of weight reduction.

Some of these tomes are valid; some, I'm afraid, are written by opportunistic con men whose only aim is to seduce the desperate, take their money, and run.

If one takes a reasonable approach to the problem, one immediately will understand that there is no magic formula, no elixir, no nostrum which will painlessly melt away that excess avoirdupois.

"There is no substitution for educated self restraint," said one physician to whom I talked in gathering the data for this column.

He continued, "I used to get rough with some patients and scold them. It didn't take long for me to learn that such an approach was counter-productive. A serious dieter must do more than cut their energy (food) input to a specific amount of calories each day. That dieter must take the time to learn something about food and nutrition, and perhaps the most important thing that dieter must learn is the plain fact that he or she will probably have to spend their entire life watching carefully the foods they ingest."

At first blush, his last statement made my knees weak — he's working with me at this moment in an attempt to remove 25 pounds from my frame. Or to put it more accurately, to remove and keep off 25 pounds.

"I won't give you the statistic to print," he said, "but the great majority of people who experience a satisfying weight loss have the unfortunate habit of putting that weight on again. And it's put back on because during the diet regime, these people have not taken the time to learn about good vs. bad dietary habits.

"People, somehow, must be taught that they can not live a life of total dietary dissipation and simultaneously enjoy the benefits of good health."

He talked about some of the fad diets, and summarily dismissed them all as dangerous, or ineffective, or "simply a waste of your money."

It would appear that we have embraced a curious philosophy — a philosophy described by the physician as a "something for nothing syndrome."

"I don't want to sound like a Sunday School teacher or a stern father lecturing his offspring, but, damn it, you can not spend years stuffing everything imaginable into your mouth and expect to atone for your foolishness by freely accepting the dictates of a fad diet which promises miracles in 60 days or less."

"It can't be done, and it ought not to be done."

We continued our conversation with a discussion of the latest fad to capture the pocket books of overweight America: the liquid protein or protein sparing diet. We have some interesting things to say about this cure-all in next week's column.

From the State Senate

Employers urged to study and respond to new proposal

As Chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, a significant amount of my time over the summer months has been devoted to meeting with employers across the state in an effort to devise some means of repaying a $624 million federal debt which the state incurred as a result of 1974-75 recession. Michigan was forced to borrow the money in order to aid thousands of laid-off workers and their families when our own unemployment insurance reserves ran out.

Not long ago, the federal government notified Michigan that employers may be liable for increased unemployment taxes unless the state takes action to repay the money.

Under current federal law, employers receive an income tax credit for federal unemployment payments, but if Michigan has not taken action to repay the federal funds advanced to it, by November 10, 1977, the credit will be reduced, thereby increasing the taxes paid by the firms.

Specifically, the tax credit Michigan employers now receive would be reduced by .3 of 1 percent of the taxable wage base in the coming fiscal year and at least .6 percent and .9 percent in the second and third year respectively. Each year thereafter, the credit would continue to be reduced by increasing increments of .3 percent until the debt is repaid.

Obviously, such tax penalties will be a severe handicap to economic expansion in our state and will undoubtedly weaken Michigan's ability to attract new business—and more jobs—in our state.

In an effort to protect employers from this tax credit loss, I held a series of workshops and public hearings across the state to inform employers of one repayment plan presented by the governor and now under consideration in the Senate Labor Committee. Unfortunately, the business community showed little interest in the workshops and hearings, despite the fact that the fiscal impact of the governor's proposal is nearly as great as that of the Single Business Tax.

On the average, only four of five employers participated in each of the meetings. I was particularly dismayed with the poor attendance, since the committee stage in the legislative process is the point at which a proposal such as this can most easily be amended and revised. Employer input at this stage, for example, could contribute significantly to a balanced and equitable reform of our present unemployment insurance tax structure. Without the testimony and cooperation of the business community, however, the Legislature is forced to estimate the effect the proposal will have and runs the risk of enacting a reform package which unfairly assesses some groups.

By State Senator David A. Plawewski
12th District

Unless employers in our state demonstrate more interest in the proposal now before the Labor Committee, I am reluctant to press for passage of this suggested reform. Although there were few area employers in attendance at the Allen Park workshop and hearing last August, I would still appreciate learning the views of Inkster employers and encourage them to write me at my Capitol office for more information about this very important proposal.

Reflections

The Junkman Cometh...

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

The young mother from around the corner plopped down on a lawn chair and said she didn't think she was going to make it to the time her kids grew up.

"They're such slob," she said. "See that huge mud hill in the middle of the alley? That's my oldest son."

"Oh, they'll grow out of it," I said to comfort her.

"Intowhat?" she asked. Now that I wasn't sure of, so I went to Virginia to see my oldest son and see how he had turned out since he was out of the slob stage.

I knew that if he had made it real good, I would be able to comfort that mother because my boy had been the dirtiest kid in the neighborhood.

At the end of the summer I would have to hose down each mound of dirt on the block before I could recognize my own child and that same kid had a severe allergy to combs and brushes. He also broke out in loud bawls whenever anyone waved a shampoo bottle at him.

When it came time to have his hair cut, I had to shop around for barbers because most of the barbers in our town didn't take too kindly to cutting hair that had living things snapping at their shears.

Probably the worst thing about having such a sloppy kid is that when I went to wash his clothes, the giant in the washing machine went on strike and even Mr. Clean couldn't do anything for me.

So, as I said, I went to Washington. And there was my son, all grown up with a little replica in his arms that hadn't yet had a chance to grow into a slob since his mother carried wet washcloths in her handbag and kept slapping at his face with them.

But, he's a real strong fellow and tore up all the washcloths he could grab, so it won't be long.

There was something different about my son, too, and after awhile I decided it was because when I looked at him there were only two eyes peering back at me instead of a dozen, and his hair was shining in the sun.

It was also laying in place on his head with tiny tendrils curling around each ear. He was beautiful. I threw my arms around his neck and pulled him to me and as I pulled his head down to kiss him he jerked back.

"Be careful," he said. "Don't muss my hair...it took me an hour to fix it!"

Potomac Ethics

Gay rights—gay rapists

Adherents of gay rights would be a great deal more persuasive to the general public were they not so comparatively silent about prisoners' rights not to be forcibly sodomized.

Four years ago, a Quaker peace demonstrator was incarcerated in the Washington D.C. jail where he was gang raped 48 times, with no reported action taken against this band of buggers.

Now, in a welcome judicial reaction, the U.S. District Court in Alexandria has ruled that Virginia corrections officials—from former corrections director Jack Davis to Prince William County Sheriff Carl Rollins and two probation officers—must pay damages to a 16-year-old boy who was raped by two inmates of the Prince William County Jail in Manassas.

Last year, Fairfax County Sheriff James Swinton was ordered by a U.S. judge to pay $7,500 to an adult jail-rapist victim in the Fairfax County Jail as final settlement of a jury award of $50,000.

Such litigation is the thoroughly commendable work of the National Prison Project, headed by Alvin Bronstein.

Prison officials should have learned a long time ago that the right to be safe from gang sodomy should be as basic as the right of a prisoner to receive food and shelter.

There are numerous ways to avoid homosexual rape, running from segregation of known homosexuals, to police infiltrators, to conjugal visits, to electronic surveillance of cells. To contend that forcible sodomy is inevitable is to suggest that authorities cannot inhibit murder. If enough officials are made to pay extensive damages for such outrages they will almost certainly find a means of proper control.

Responsible gays should be in the fore of advocating such control and respecting the rights of straights to be protected from gang rape. But such concern for the rights of others hardly seems to be at the center of the gay rights campaign.

For when Scarsdale, N.Y. attorney Adam Walinsky, a former Kennedy aide who wrote an article questioning the provisions of a special law on homosexuality, 50 gays wielding baseball bats hired a bus, traveled from Manhattan to Scarsdale, cut Walinsky's telephone line, pelted his house with eggs and firecrackers and for one hour chanted a threat to burn it down—as police stood by watching.

In Toronto, however, the reaction of the public was quite different when four men were arrested and charged with kidnapping, gang raping and murdering a 12 year-old Portuguese immigrant boy, Emmanuel Jacques.

The Toronto Star published a cartoon showing a hangman's noose being tossed over a street sign. And 15,000 demonstrators marched through downtown Toronto demanding either a firing squad or the gallows after a far speedier trial than is customary in such cases.

Anita Bryant's overwhelming victory in Florida should have been a warning that the gay community must be concerned about forcible sodomists and child molesters. But if there is any such concern, it is hardly discernible.

Reader protests 'Child Emancipation'

Open Letter To:
WE PROTEST THE CHILD EMANCIPATION PLEA!

For forty years, we as a society, have practiced permissiveness in the training of our youth. Our headlines reflect the results: "Young woman gang raped on Expressway", "Young sniper strikes down three citizens", "Fifty hostages held by gunman," "Car swerves into group, killing two young women," etc., etc. The news contains little else.

The data is proven and continues daily, accelerating with each passing day and bringing chaos to innocent victims. One is no longer safe on the streets and even the refuge we once enjoyed in our homes is no longer available.

We have taught our children that they have no responsibility for their behavior. Our schools cannot enforce discipline without facing court action. Education has been reduced to policing undisciplined, incorrigible youth. As a result our children are totally unprepared to support themselves or perform in an adult world.

Now comes a "commission", at the cost of more than $1.5 Million of our tax dollars to institute further destruction to our youth and the society in which they live. We find it inconceivable that any body of so called intelligent, educated individuals could present a plan to emancipate our children into utter destruction.

No society, business, educational system or home can survive without laws and enforcement of them. Abdication of responsibility can only result in catastrophe. Discipline is a service, not a punishment and for citizens capable to self government there are no problems. When will we learn that freedom is for, and not from, responsible behavior.

We stand with Mrs. Alice L. Hines of Detroit who said, "This will destroy the very core of the family. I can't see how intelligent people came to the conclusion that parents authority over children should be removed." If children cannot have respect for parents and accept their authority, how can they be expected to have self discipline and responsibility.

Under the Hitler regime children were trained to inform on their parents and many innocent victims were incarcerated for attempting to guide their children toward responsible activities. Have we really forgotten so soon that this is the policy followed in Germany, or are we deliberately attempting to further contribute to the decay that is so prevalent today? Young people responsible for committing adult crimes (killing, rape, armed robbery, etc.) are not children and should be treated as adults. Lets submit a bill supporting these principals. Make it a law and enforce it. Eliminate the loopholes so that police officials can function and courts are not ham strung on technicalities, make each individual responsible for his behavior and we might, in a hundred years or so, be able to once again function as a responsible society. As long as we condone and reward misbehavior, crime will increase, as will irresponsibility.

Pool use denial sparks letter

To the editor:

Van Buren School has a lovely pool which is being saved for no particular reason. Certainly senior citizens are not getting any benefits from it.

We are offered, during these hot summer days, the use of Ypsilanti's pool and Huron's pool. But you must have gas and energy to reach these neighboring facilities.

We are forbidden the use of our own tax paid for pool. Like many other things our tax money goes for, the school pool lies idle.

We read about this tour in the Belleville Enterprise and are really glad we decided to take the tour and look forward to more trips of interest to us. Anyone that likes this sort of travelling but not alone should look into these tours.

The test of Love

Jesus said: "If you love me, keep my commandments." (Jn. 14:15) Isn't it amazing the way people grasp one scripture and totally ignore others. They often remind the Lord of His promises to heal, or meet personal needs. It appears that the command to teach, witness and make disciples of others never meets their eyes.

Almost in every service you will hear preachers and members alike declare their love for the Lord. The real test of love is "are you keeping His commandments." Serving God to some people is showing at service time, singing songs, and shouting. Now, I believe in attending church regularly, singing forth praises of adoration and thanksgiving and shouting the Victory. But, there's more to obeying the Lord's command than just this. That more is service. You see Satan isn't scared when you shout. But he does get disturbed when you are busy in God's service.

To love is to care. To care is to share. To share is to give of one's times, energy, money, talents... self! I have observed that when the pastor and church get busy in the service of the Lord, growth is inevitable.

Some people teach that if they follow Jesus they must always be small in church attendance. They feel that because of their separation from sin they will always be small. I don't believe that it is due to the separation from sin, but separation from service. I agree that holiness is God's command, but service is also a command.

So let's stop kidding ourselves and start caring! Sluggish, slumbering, sleeping servants will not hear: "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

The love test is keeping His commandments.

"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest." (service) Matt. 9:37-38

Adoption Identity seeks end of permanent sealing records

Adoption Identity Movement of Michigan Inc., a non-profit organization staffed by volunteers, is pursuing a change in current Michigan Law, which permanently seals adoption records.

Formed by Tina Otway in 1974 as a result of her interest in the work of Jean Paton, founder of Orphan Voyage and pioneer for the rights of the adult adoptee, the organization's membership included adult adoptees, natural and adoptive parents, relatives and interested workers in the field of adoption.

Its goals are to educate the public as to the rights of the adult adoptee and remove the secrecy and fear that surrounds adoption, initiate a change in the Michigan sealed records law, provide 1-to-1 counseling (buddy system) for persons sharing similar problems particular to members of the adoption triangle, and maintain a Reunion File and Search Workshop.

A spokesman for the group said its members hope to accomplish their goals "by working with the adoption agencies, courts, legislators, adoption and natural parent groups and others involved in the adoption process."

"At present we do not conduct individual searches, however, we offer guidance and give individual suggestions as applicable to further one's search," the spokesman added.

Adoption Identity Movement meets on the second Tuesday of the month at Threshold Community Center, 723 Woodward Heights, Hazel Park, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. A search workshop and area meeting is held on the fourth Thursday of the month at Grace Episcopal Church, 115 S. Gratiot, Mt. Clemens, also from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

"There are more than 5 million adopted people in the United States," the spokesman said. "Adding to that all the members of the adoption triangle involves the lives of more than 25 million people.

"Adoption is a constantly changing picture—what is true today was not so yesterday and, hopefully, through the efforts of groups like ours, will be very different tomorrow."

Further information on Adoption Identity Movement of Michigan Inc. can be obtained by writing the organization at P.O. Box 123, Roseville 48066, or by contacting Tina Otway at 399-1290 after 6:30 p.m., Pat Rapson at 463-6083, Andrea Dubin at (517) 351-2055 evenings, Chris Spurr at 791-4277, Jack DeJonge at (616) 456-8375, or Phyllis McFarland at 789-3391.

Scouts team up for drive

For the first time, all four Girl Scout Councils in the tri-county area are combining efforts in conducting an all-out recruitment campaign for adult volunteers. Participating councils include the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit (most of Wayne County), Northern Oakland, Southern Oakland and Otsikita (Macomb County).

The councils report that their waiting lists are filled with the names of hundreds of local girls who want to be Scouts, but can't because there aren't enough leaders or troops in their areas. So, the goal of this campaign is to recruit enough volunteers to make Scouting available to every girl who wants to participate.

The requirements for being a Girl Scout volunteer are few. All one needs is a little spare time and a genuine interest in working with young people. There is a mistaken belief that one must be a parent of girls to be a Girl Scout volunteer. All adults, men as well as women, from young singles to senior citizens, are eligible to be volunteers.

No special skills, experience or education is needed. Free training in leadership and other skills are provided by the Girl Scout councils. Training classes are set up at various locations, during the day and in the evening, so as to offer volunteers maximum convenience. Additional assistance is available at all times.

To accept calls from potential Scout volunteers, the tri-county councils have established a special "hot line" which will be in operation 24 hours a day. The number is 569-5807.

Retirement age change denounced

Wayne County Commissioner Clemens E. Bykowski is urging a widespread public campaign to torpedo "an irresponsible proposal by Juanita Kreps, U.S. Secretary of Commerce, and other government officials that would extend the retirement age for Social Security benefits from 65 to 68 years of age."

Bykowski (D-Detroit) has sponsored a resolution asking the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to oppose this proposed change in the Social Security system.

"Citizens and public officials must act now to smother this proposal before it even gets off the ground," Bykowski said. "Americans and employers have been contributing hard-earned dollars for more than 40 years into the Social Security system with the expectation that retirement benefits will be available at age 65."

"To change the rules now — and delay those benefits for three more years — would be nothing less than highway robbery."

Bykowski called on Congress to enact legislation immediately that would provide the necessary funds to keep the Social Security system solvent and alleviate "the fears of those members of the working force who are approaching retirement age."

"Economy measures can be made within the federal government without stripping retirement benefits from the pockets of senior citizens," he added. "It is interesting to note that the very people that are proposing most Americans work until age 68 to gain retirement benefits don't even pay into the Social Security system and in many cases are able to retire at age 55!"

Bykowski said he was talking about federal government employees, but particularly the "big chiefs who will be drawing the fattest retirement checks".

"As of May, 1977, there were 2,856,427 people on the federal government civilian payroll — and not one of them paid a dime into Social Security," Bykowski said. "Federal career employees have their own retirement system and do not participate in the Social Security program — and that includes the congressmen and senators who created it, the White House and its staff and the huge federal bureaucracy that manages it. Even Juanita Kreps herself."

Bykowski said the federal retirement system was fantastic and paid out more benefits at an earlier age than Social Security does.

Federal workers can retire at age 55 with full benefits after 30 years of service, at age 60 with 20 years of service and at age 62 with five years of federal employment.

Bykowski said he average American worker has no choice, even if he has a company pension plan. Under the law, most people pay Social Security taxes up to a $16,500 income. That means a maximum of $965.25 from each employer and employer at that level of earnings for a total annual contribution of $1,930.50.

Bykowski said if Congress is really sincere about making the Social Security system work, why not start in its own backyard.

"Our younger workers shouldn't have to worry about the solvency of this mandatory government-controlled retirement system, especially at the rate they are forced to pay into it," Bykowski said.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"Before another cold winter, learn about the heat pump. It's one of the most energy-efficient ways to heat your home."

Today's heat pump is one of the most energy-efficient ways to heat your home, apartment, office or commercial building. It returns over 1 1/2 units of heat for every unit of energy it uses.

Think what this can mean in conserving energy and helping to keep your heating and cooling costs down.

There's a unique reason why the heat pump is an outstandingly efficient heating system.

It makes good use of outdoor heat.

Yes. Even in winter there's heat in the outdoor air that can help keep you warm. The trick is to move that heat inside where you can use it. That's what the heat pump does. Only during very low temperatures is supplementary heat needed.

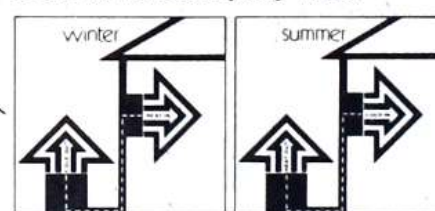

In summer, the heat pump moves heat out of your home for energy-efficient cooling. It's an all-year comfort system that also filters and dehumidifies. And it's clean because no fossil fuel is burned in your home.

The heat pump works something like your refrigerator.

A heat pump is more sophisticated, but it works in much the same way. Imagine the cold air in your refrigerator as the cold winter air outside your home. The hot air that you sometimes feel being blown into your kitchen is actually being extracted from the cold air inside the unit. This is how the heat pump warms your home. In summer, the process is reversed to cool your home: the heat in the inside air is extracted by the heat pump and moved outdoors.

Here's how the heat pump works.

See for yourself.

You can see heat pumps in the new homes displaying the Detroit Edison EEE Award. This Award is presented to builders who incorporate energy-efficient excellence standards into their homes—including proper insulation, energy-efficient appliances and lighting, as well as electric heat pump heating and cooling. Ask Detroit Edison for names and locations of builders who have EEE Award homes on display.

Conserving with comfort.

Detroit Edison wants you to know about the heat pump because it generally is the most energy-efficient way to provide homes and buildings with year-round comfort.

The heat pump can also be an important answer to conservation because the natural heat it uses helps save our non-renewable fossil fuels.

As a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation, Detroit Edison is working hard to do its part. But it requires a working partnership between those who supply energy and those who use it. So if you're planning on buying, building or replacing your present heating system, consider a heat pump as part of your plans.

Detroit Edison has a folder, "Your all-season space conditioner, The Heat Pump." Pick one up at any Detroit Edison Customer Office and learn more about this energy-efficient way to heat and cool homes and buildings. Or write to: Customer Relations, Detroit Edison, 2000 Second, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Conserve for all it's worth. The power is in your hands.

Body language: It tells you about yourself

Body language means different things to different people. To some it is a way of interpreting what other people are thinking or feeling in a given situation.

To a physician body language contains a host of signals and signs which help to tell him if a patient's mind and body are healthy or not.

Your own personal body language tells you many things every day. Because of certain internal signals, you become aware that you are hungry, or thirsty, or that you must rest. An unusual pain, or fever, or rash will send you to seek help from your physician, who will interpret these signals to determine what is wrong.

The body has sophisticated mechanisms, much more complicated than any computer, able to send out many signals which tell us much about what kind of state it is in at the moment. If you know how to interpret the signals correctly, it may even tell you of an impending stroke.

According to Dr. Sol Pickard, Henry Ford Hospital cardiologist and president of the Michigan Heart Association: "A stroke is damage to vital nerve cells of the brain from a hemorrhage, or an abrupt cutting off of the supply of oxygen-rich blood. It may be minor or massive. How a person is affected by it depends upon what part of the brain was injured. Results may be a loss of speech, partial paralysis or even total loss of body control. The effects may be temporary or permanent. Stroke is not always a disease of the aged, but may strike young people."

While many people believe a stroke is a very sudden occurrence, one that hits without warning, Dr. Pickard says the body can and often does send us warning signs of an impending stroke:

- A sudden, temporary weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg;
- Temporary difficulty or loss of speech. Or trouble understanding speech;
- Sudden, temporary dimness or loss of vision, particularly in one eye;
- An episode of double vision;
- Unexplained headaches, or a change in the pattern of your headaches;

- Temporary dizziness or unsteadiness; or
- A recent change in personality or mental ability.

If a person experiences one or more of these seven signs, Dr. Pickard says, he should seek medical advice promptly.

Research and experience have brought many changes in the therapy and treatment for stroke. Many stroke patients who once would have been considered hopeless and helpless now can be helped back to a much more normal and productive lifestyle, through therapy and self-help techniques.

Another innovation of recent years which has brought about sometimes dramatic improvement is the organization of stroke clubs for both education and recreation for stroke patients and their families. Sixteen such clubs have been instituted by the Michigan Heart Association and other agencies throughout the state.

— Dearborn Stroke Club, Easter Seal Society of Wayne County, 2545 Hyde Park, Inkster (phone 722-3055).

— Wayne County Multi-Purpose Seniors Center, J Building, 2345

Merriman Road north of Michigan Avenue, Westland (phone 326-9228).

— Wyandotte General Hospital, Rehabilitation Department, 2333 Biddle, Wyandotte (phone 284-2400).

More information on risk factors and warning signs of stroke, its effects on both patient and family, and the myriad of treatment techniques can be obtained from any office of the Michigan Heart Association.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

Once you have decided to become a homeowner, you will possibly need a loan to finance the purchase of the house you like. Remember, of prime importance at the outset, both to you and to the prospective lender, is how much you can afford to pay for a home. To determine this, you will need to make a reasonable estimate of the income the family can realistically expect to receive. An estimate of your family's living costs and payments on other debts, as well as an estimate of total housing expense, including taxes, insurance, maintenance, and loan payments — these are important points for you to consider.

Selling your home yourself?? Why not call CENTURY 21 COMMUNITY REALTORS, 10675 Belleville Rd., Belleville and avoid the inconvenience, expense, tedious work and frustration. We handle all forms of real estate, including commercial and industrial property or farm and acreage sites.... Phone 697-2121.

During October

Mother Nature, state go wild with color

October is the month when Mother Nature goes wild with her paint set splashing colors indiscriminately throughout Michigan's millions of acres of forestland. Her artistry attracts residents and visitors to the highways and byways to view the flamboyant scene and participate in the activities inspired by the harvest season, according to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce.

Bright beginnings for the month scheduled for the first day are: a color tour at Houghton Lake; color tour and flea market at Harrison; and the popular color cruises aboard the motor ship Beaver Islander on Lake Charlevoix. This year's cruises will run three weekends, October 1-2, 8-9 and Oct. 15. The price is $6, and reservations should be made as far in advance as possible through the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Guided color tours of Newago County leave from the Chamber of Commerce office in White Cloud on Oct. 1-16. At Grand Marais — the Pictured Rocks — Grand Sable State Forest area of the Upper Peninsula — a fall color tour Festival is set for Oct. 2-7. If you're a fisherman (or woman) be sure to take your rod and try your luck in the fishing contest.

On Oct. 9, Gladwin County will be showing off its fall foliage with guided tours of the countryside, leaving from the Chamber of Commerce office.

Other "goodies" listed for the opening days of the month include the Festival of the Forks, Albion and Fall Crafts Day at the Jesse Besser Museum in Alpena Oct. 1; the Fall Harvest and Crafts Festival at the Nature Center in Kalamazoo, Harvest Festival at the Chippewa Nature Center in Midland, Autumn Harvest Weekend at Greenfield Village in Dearborn, and the Octoberfest at Big Rapids will all be happening Oct. 1-2.

For Oct. 2, the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events offers quite a diversified lineup of "goings on". First is a Fowl Festival at Plymouth, (yes, that's F-O-W-L). On stage for good listening and good entertainment are Thomas Howell with the Midland Symphony at the Center for the Arts in Midland, and "A King in New York" at the Institute of Arts Auditorium in Detroit. If you're a "good buddy" with your "ears on", you might want to "10-4" the big CB Coffee Break at the County Center Building in Kalamazoo.

For the antique and "junkie" bunch there's an Antique Show Oct. 5-9 a Meridian Mall in Okemos; Antique Fair at the County Center Building in Kalamazoo and the World Wide Antique Show at the Civic Center in Lansing, both Oct. 7-9; Antiques Market, Oct. 16 in Ann Arbor; and the Midwest Antiques Forum Oct. 18-22 at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

To whet the appetites of happy wanderers, there's an RV Show at Eastland Mall in Burton on Oct. 3-9, Midwest Power Boat Show Oct. 6-9 at Metropolitan Beach in Mt. Clemens, Travel Trailer Rally at the Branch County Fairgrounds in Coldwater on Oct. 7-9; Auto Show at Northwood Institute in Midland Oct. 14-16, and "Vantasia '78" Oct. 21-23 at Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Miscellaneous speaking, here's something for just about everyone: — A Mushroom Festival Oct. 1-5 in Sterling Heights, Flower Show at the Belle Isle Conservatory Oct. 1-31, Fishing Contest at Mackinac Island

Oct. 2-8, Dog Show at the Sports Arena in Jackson on Oct. 7, the Red Flannel Festival at Cedar Springs on Oct. 8, Fall Ski Festival at Alpine Valley in Pontiac on Oct. 9, "Aging and the Art of Living Week" Oct. 10-15 at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Gem and Mineral Show at the National Guard Armory in Lansing Oct. 21-23, and the Tri-County Rabbit Show on Oct. 29 in Kalamazoo.

Metropark nature centers open for 'classroom' use

Teachers in schools located in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties now have an opportunity to schedule their classes for a visit to one of the three nature centers of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA).

The HCMA centers are located at Stony Creek Metropark near Utica, Kensington Metropark near Milford and Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock.

A nature center appointment gives the class and teacher use of the exhibit room for a 45-minute session, including a talk by a park naturalist who uses the exhibits and other natural objects to explain some of the interesting ecological relationships of the area.

When appointments are scheduled, teachers should suggest a topic which is suited to the current classroom studies, such as talks on insects, plant life, migrating birds, the preparation of plants and animals for winter and several others.

The three nature centers offer appointments starting at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, available in the fall, winter and spring.

Each park has nature trails open year-round. Teachers usually take their classes on one of the trails, which are labelled for self-guided hikes, either before or after a nature center visit, so that students may observe plants and animals in their natural homes. No appointments are required for trail use, which are available daily 8 a.m. to dusk. Rules prohibit the collection of leaves and other objects in the park.

Classes usually bring their own lunch, which can be enjoyed at nearby picnic areas.

Information can be obtained and appointments made by calling the HCMA at 961-5865 (Detroit).

Don't forget your hunting manners

Accidents involving firearms cause thousands of deaths each year, so if you plan on hunting this year, the Red Cross urges you to note these precautionary suggestions:

- (1) Guns should be kept unloaded and under lock and key in a sturdy cabinet, where children and others unqualified to handle them cannot get at them. Guns also should be well cared for and inspected before use.
- Ammunition should be checked for age and the condition of casings. A malfunction could result in a lost or misplaced shot and possible injury to the hunter or his companion.
- (2) A hunter should be prepared for the elements in the area he will cover. In cold weather he should wear sturdy boots and clothing that will be adequately warm. He also should wear highly visible clothing, and carry a compass, small flashlight, first aid kit and map of the area, where he will be hunting. A loud whistle also should be carried to summon aid, if needed.

- (3) Both law and courtesy require a hunter to ask permission to hunt on private property. The landowner can advise him of the location of other hunters in the area. When leaving the property, notify and thank the landowner.
- (4) Be sure the ammunition is the right caliber for the gun used.
- In the open field or brush, hunters should walk abreast. One person out in front could be in danger from others. A lefthanded marksman should always be placed on the right end of the group, because of his tendency to swing right.

Be alert for other hunters in the same area.

The best and safest way to carry a gun while walking is cradled in the arm with the muzzle pointing down. This lessens the likelihood of injury in case of a fall.

A form of feedback

There's more to smiling than you think

People who smile a lot tend to manage an office more capably, teach more effectively, sell more merchandise, raise happier children.

And, they get more smiles in return.

"That alone is reason enough for smiling more," says University of Michigan psychologist James V. McConnell. "Imagine what life would be like if you never got feedback for your actions or accomplishments. A smile tells us 'right on'. Continue what you are doing! You are reaching your goal!" "A frown only tells us we've done something wrong, but seldom tells us what we should do instead to win a smile.

"There's more information in a smile than a frown," McConnell explained. "That's why encouragement is a much more effective teaching device than punishment."

His comments were made in response to a letter received by the university. The letter writer asked: "What is the value of a smile? How does a smile, given and received, enrich our lives? How can we learn to smile more often?"

McConnell does not claim to be an expert on smiling, but he does know its effect on people.

"We smile at others when they please us, because we absolutely need to be smiled at when we do something right. We can't see ourselves behave, so we act as mirrors for one another. It is the golden rule all over again."

In his introductory psychology classes, McConnell has taught people to smile simply by asking them to count the number of times they think they are smiling in a 10-minute period. Then he asks them to increase that number by one or two smiles during the next 10 minutes, and plots the results on a graph.

"The learning does even faster if one can make a videotape of the process. Then the person has a very objective record of how frequently he smiles — as well as how others respond to those smiles," McConnell said. "Learning seldom occurs unless we get feedback, either from monitoring our own actions, or through the responses of people around us. The two kinds of feedback are rewards and punishment."

"Rewards tend to increase our motivation, security and sense of accomplishment. But punishment tends to interrupt behavior, suppress emotions (other than hate) and feel negatively toward the punisher."

"Frowns are a form of punishment."

Frowns, like smiles, affect both the sender and receiver. Studies show that medical doctors who are frowning and critical toward their patients experience twice as many malpractice suits as doctors who are smiling and encouraging, McConnell stated.

"Also, for some time I have worked with parents of delinquent children. More than 80 percent of these parents are punitive non-smilers," he added. "The other parents may smile, but they spend little time with their kids anyhow. I have never met a delinquent's parents who was warm, encouraging and smiling!"

"Go to a cocktail party and watch who is attracted to whom. People who smile draw more attention. They are better liked and are perceived as being more friendly."

"Frowns are a type of psychopollution that are as deadly as smoke fumes or mercury in drinking water," McConnell said. "One can kill the spirit more easily than the body, I suspect."

"We legislate against polluted air and water; maybe we ought to legislate for more smiling, to improve mental health!"

County may sell state long-term care facility

Eloise, where psychiatric admissions often are halted when the 124 available beds are taken, may have up to 320 beds, if a proposed county-state transaction clears the hurdles it faces.

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, described that as the key point to emerge from a meeting at Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital, known popularly as Eloise.

Barr explained: "Everyone at the meeting agreed there is a need for more psychiatric beds at Eloise, but the county cannot afford the cost of even a modest expansion. 'Here is an opportunity to nearly triple the number of beds available at Eloise when mental illness strikes. Even court-ordered patients are being turned away at the door at present.'"

Patients not admitted at Eloise are taken on to Northville State Hospital, which is legally required to accept court-ordered admissions.

Barr pointed out that Northville is nearly 15 miles farther from the most populated areas of the county, intensifying any transportation problems faced by patients and their families. Eloise is located at Michigan Avenue and Merriman Road in Westland.

Another strong point in favor of the proposal is the fact that psychiatric patients would be housed in a modern building instead of the present 73-year-old structure, which Barr described as "dingy and depressing."

The proposal aired at the meeting calls for the state to buy the Walter P. Reuther Memorial Building at Eloise, for use as a psychiatric hospital. The county would then be out of the business of operating a mental hospital.

The Reuther Building presently houses some 240 long-term care patients who would be shifted to the modern Wayne County General Hospital, thus eliminating a problem of underutilized bed capacity at both the Reuther Building and General Hospital.

Barr said the net effect of the series of moves would be "a vast improvement in the ability of Eloise to respond to the serious problem of mental illness, while saving several million dollars a year for the taxpayers of Wayne County."

That the new psychiatric hospital would have up to 350 beds was disclosed at the meeting by Donald Worden, regional deputy director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

"Previous information indicated the state was thinking in terms of 240 beds. The fact that there would be 300 to 350 beds makes this an even better deal for the citizens of Wayne County," Barr said.

Worden and Herbert DeJonge, deputy director of the Michigan Department of Management and Budget, were among those who attended the Sept. 8 meeting of the psychiatric staff at Eloise.

The proposed transaction with the state was endorsed by the County Board of Commissioners Aug. 18 and is part of a broad "recovery program" proposed by Barr for solving a county financial crisis.

But it became clear at the Eloise meeting that the proposal will have to overcome determined opposition from Eloise employees who fear possible layoffs and whose wages and fringe benefits are higher than comparable state jobs.

Noting that approval by the legislature is necessary, Robert Updike, president of the largest union at Eloise, said: "I intend to make every effort to see that it doesn't happen."

However, in approving the concept, the Board of Commissioners said it will negotiate with the state "to maintain jobs and conditions of employment for present employees of Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital", indicating that most would be offered jobs with the new state facility.

"The fact that the state has plans for nearly three times as many beds suggests that the potential for employment is greater than the present 340 psychiatric staff at Eloise," Barr said.

State Rep. Tom Brown (D-Westland), a member of the House Mental Health Subcommittee, attended the meeting. He indicated that opposition can be expected in the legislature.

The meeting was called by Dr. Morteza Menui, Psychiatric Hospital director, who in effect declared his opposition to the proposed state takeover.

Dr. Menui questioned whether the state would operate on the same principle of short-term intensive psychiatric care with the goal of early return of the patient to normal living.

However, Worden said that type of treatment now is provided for appropriate patients at state hospitals and would be provided at the proposed facility.

The proposed state takeover was worked out between Barr and the two state offices after the state balked at reimbursing the county for 90 percent of the full $190 daily cost per patient at the present facility. A state law limits reimbursement to 90 percent of no more than $90 per day per patient.

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS MINUTES REGULAR MEETING August 8, 1977

The Regular Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, August 8, 1977 at 8:00 p.m.

Members present: Doris Roe, Charles Paas, William McCollum, James Sayre, Robert Cook, and Richard Muse. Also present were Superintendent Dale Kaulitz, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr, and Director of Instruction Douglas Brown.

President Roe called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

The minutes of the regular meeting of July 11, 1977 and special meetings of July 18, 1977 and July 25, 1977 were reviewed and approved as printed.

On recommendation of the Business Office, motion by James Sayre, supported by William McCollum, that:

Harold Brownlee, Head Custodian at South Jr. High School, be terminated by retirement effective July 29, 1977;

Albert Straub, Head Custodian at the High School, be terminated by retirement effective July 29, 1977; and Warren Duford, custodian at Quirk Elementary School, be granted request for termination effective July 25, 1977.

Motion carried.

William McCollum suggested that a letter of appreciation be sent to all persons who retire from the school district. Matter to be discussed.

Motion by Richard Muse, supported by James Sayre, that the financial reports be approved as presented. Motion carried.

The bills for the month of July were reviewed. Motion by Richard Muse, supported by James Sayre, that the bills be paid as presented. Motion carried.

Jack Hosmer informed the Board of the purchase of two mobile classrooms by National School Bus Service for $13,000.00. There are now 23 mobile classrooms remaining.

A three-year Cafeteria Agreement was presented for ratification. David Baronian, Cafeteria Supervisor, and Jack Hosmer discussed the changes and additions to the contract from previous years. The cafeteria group met this morning and ratified the contract. Motion by William McCollum, supported by Richard Muse, to ratify the Cafeteria Contract as presented. Motion carried.

On recommendation of the Personnel Office, motion by Richard Muse, supported by James Sayre, that:

Nancy Edwards, teacher at Elwell Elementary School, be granted request for termination effective July 27, 1977;

S. Diane Pinter, teacher on Maternity Leave, be granted request for termination effective May 23, 1977;

Ann Furtwangler be hired as a Learning Disabilities teacher for the 1977-78 school year beginning August 31, 1977; and Carol Potter be returned from pink slip status for the 1977-78 school year as a teacher in the pre-school program beginning August 31, 1977.

Motion carried.

Raymond Kohr noted that we have ten teachers remaining on lay off status for the 1977-78 school year. No report yet on the School Census.

Robert Cook, chairman of the Screening Committee, reported that the committee reached an impasse regarding a recommendation for appointment of a school board member to fill vacancy. The two finalists are Clarence Russell and Larry Boelter. Doris Roe asked if the Board desired to make the appointment or submit the names to Wayne County Intermediate School District for a decision. It was the consensus that the Board make the decision. James Sayre requested to hear reasons for supporting of each candidate before vote taken because he was not at the screening meeting when they were interviewed. Paas, Cook, Muse, and McCollum responded.

Discussion was held. Motion by Robert Cook, supported by Charles Paas, that Larry Boelter be appointed to fill school board vacancy. Motion defeated.

Motion by William McCollum, supported by Richard Muse, to appoint Clarence Russell to fill school board vacancy. Motion defeated.

Motion by Robert Cook, supported by William McCollum, that the two names be submitted to Wayne County Intermediate School District for their decision at the August 24, 1977 meeting. Motion carried.

Douglas Brown gave an update on the August 30, 1977 election. Many interest groups are working in the community in support of the millage and the newsletter will briefly state Plan I and Plan II as approved by the Board. The high school administration is calling each 18 year old an encouraging their support for the millage.

Dale Kaulitz discussed Senate Bill No. 714 regarding unemployment benefits for all nonprofessional school employees during vacation times, summer, and holiday periods. Board and voter support is needed to support amendments denying eligibility to nonprofessional school employees for these periods. Matter to be studied for action at future meeting.

He also discussed the Attorney General's decision regarding use of cigarettes by persons under the age of 18 and setting aside a place for pupils to smoke cigarettes. He noted that the high school student handbook states that no one under 18 years of age is permitted to smoke on school property and designates enforcement of under 18 year olds who smoke.

A letter was read from Byron Antcliff requesting that his daughter Lisa, who will be a kindergartener this year, attend Van Buren Public Schools as a tuition student. It was noted that past policy has been that only students wishing to complete their senior year have been permitted to attend on a tuition basis. Motion by James Sayre, supported by William McCollum, that request be denied. Motion carried.

Questions and comments were heard from visitors.

Meeting adjourned at 10:10 p.m.

For 1978... Chevy Chevette announces a decrease in price and an increase in value.

A lot more standard

Our nifty 2-door Chevette Hatchback just got a lot niftier. Because we've added eighteen new standard features.

Features that most people want in a car. Like a quality-built Delco AM radio, a larger 1.6 Litre engine, white stripe tires and wheel trim rings. Even swing-out rear windows.

All things considered, the new '78 2-door Chevette Hatchback is considerably more car. And a very considerable value.

New standard features on the '78 2-door Chevette Hatchback

- Delco AM radio
- 1.6 Litre engine
- Swing-out rear windows
- Reclining front bucket seats
- White stripe tires
- Sport steering wheel
- Console
- Wheel trim rings
- Bumper rub strips
- Protective body side moldings
- Cigarette lighter
- Color-keyed instrument panel
- Glove compartment lock
- Deluxe grille...and more...
- 18 new features in all.

Some early production Chevettes in dealer inventory won't have reclining seats. The suggested base price will be reduced accordingly.

The '78 2-door Chevette Hatchback is $282 less

Now here's the really good news.

We added those 18 items to the 1978 2-door Chevette Hatchback, yet, based on a comparison of manufacturer's suggested retail prices, we still kept the price $282 below what last year's model would have cost with the same equipment.

More Chevette for less money. Amazing and true.

And now there's a brand-new Chevette, too. A 4-door Hatchback with two more doors, a roomy back seat and all the new standard features, except swing-out rear windows. In fact, it has more rear seat leg room than the 1977 Toyota Corolla or Datsun B-210 4-door sedans. Even the 1977 Honda Civic Wagon.

For 1978, Chevette's a lot of car for your money.

Katherine Spring's 50 years in OES lauded

Some 125 friends and special guests were on hand the evening of Sept. 14 for a dinner and retirement party honoring Katherine Spring who has served as secretary of the Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order of Eastern Star, for the past 50 years. Past Matron Ruby Clayton acted as mistress of ceremonies at the 6:30 dinner held at the Masonic Temple where table appointments were carried out in blue and white with the vases of fall garden flowers covered with blue and white checked gingham. Favors were sachets done up in the same gingham. The blue napkins were imprinted with the honoree's name and 50-year designation. Past Matron Florence Sugars gave the address of welcome and P.M. Eva Lupher the invocation.

Members of the Rainbow for Girls helped served the buffet dinner which was complete with a special anniversary cake.

The honoree, who was presented a corsage of yellow daisies and baby carnations, was feted at a program which followed in the Chapter Room with a "This is Your Life" segment included. Vocal selections were by Dorthea Vance and John Cockwell of Trenton and introductions by Ruby Clayton who presented past matrons and past patrons, among them the two eldest, Dora Skiff, 94, of Romulus and Ida Klages, 90. Others arrived from Manchester, Tenn.; Trenton, Dearborn, Detroit, Harrison, Lake City, Onsted, Highland, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Romulus, Plymouth, Dundee and Belleville for the festivities.

Gifts included 50 silver dollars, one for each year, from the chapter; an arrangement of 50 red and white roses from Past Patron Clyde Cox of River Rouge and a money tree from the present officers and members.

Messages of congratulations arrived from President Jimmy Carter, Governor William Milliken and Geraldine Roe, Grand Secretary of the Grand Chapter of Michigan Order Eastern Star. A chrysanthemum plant also was received from the golden jubilarian's son and daughter, John and Mildred Spring in North Bend, Ore. A special 50th anniversary plate, made by Lenore Gaddy, was inscribed with all the matrons and patrons under which Mrs. Spring had served as secretary.

Special guests joining in the accolade were the honoree's son, Herbert Spring, his wife, Beth, and their daughter, Kay, from Plymouth.

The committee in charge of planning the evening celebration included Ruby Clayton, Rose Ann Welt, Frances Mc Atee, Cora Bradshaw, Linda Clayton and Donna Collins.

By protecting your crops you can extend your harvest

You can extend the harvest from your garden by days or even weeks if you protect tender crops from those first killing frosts.

Horticulturists at Michigan State University suggest a good way to save a garden from frost is to sprinkle it with water. Start sprinkling when the air temperature around the plants drops to 34 degrees F. Keep applying water at the rate of one-eighth inch per hour until ice formed on the plants has melted and the air temperature is above 32 degrees.

Don't turn off the water when ice begins to form, the experts warn. It is the heat given off by the water as it freezes that keeps the plants warm. A coat of ice may break down tall plants like pole beans or gladioli, but it will protect low growing crops like cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers and squash from freezing.

If you have a small garden or only a few tender plants, you can protect them by mulching with straw or newspaper. Cover them at night if frost seems likely and uncover them in the morning.

Some crops such as lettuce, chives and all cool season crops, can tolerate frost and cold temperatures. If a frost warning is broadcast, concentrate your effort on tomatoes, pepper, eggplant, squash, cucumbers and other warm season crops.

Another way to save some vegetables from frost is to harvest them green and ripen them indoors. This works particularly well with tomatoes. Wrap them in newspaper and store them in the dark at 55-60 degrees F. Then ripen a few at a time by bringing them into the light and higher temperatures. Cherry tomato plants may be pulled up and hung upside down in a basement or garage until the fruits ripen.

Belleville BPW celebrates 30th year of founding

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) met to celebrate its 30th year of active community participation on Sept. 12 at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton. Forty-two women were present including nine members from the Ypsilanti chapter which sponsored the Belleville group in 1947.

Following dinner and the traditional dessert of birthday cake and ice cream, an informative film was presented and discussed by Debbie Fredericks and Chris Casey who are associated with the Downriver Anti-Rape Effort (DARE.)

During the evening Evelyn Lauber was welcomed as a new member and special recognition was given to two charter members attending,

Marie Roberts and Irene Whalen. Any woman who is now or has been previously employed is eligible for membership in the BPW. The Belleville chapter meets on the first Monday of each month at 6:30 p.m. at Faith United Methodist Church. Teacher Debbie DeFouw of Dearborn, whose experience spans both public school and private nursery teaching, points out that preschool provides the opportunity to "let go of mother" and socialize through creative play. Emphasis is placed on large and small muscle

Waffle sundaes

Just about everyone loves waffles and since they're so versatile, why not plan on making them as a special treat for the family or as a different dessert for company. Make

Waffles for dessert

Everyone loves festive desserts, and a grand finale makes a meal truly memorable. Even a simple dinner will win praise when the dessert is a tempting creation.

Especially when entertaining, it is nice to plan a happy ending to the meal. However, most of us don't have all day to spend in the kitchen baking an elaborate dessert.

For a unique treat that's speedy and spectacular, try waffle sundaes — sweet waffles, made with honey and chopped nuts, topped with ice cream and luscious fruit sauces. The waffles can be made ahead of time and frozen; simply reheat in the oven for five minutes or in the toaster at medium setting.

The real secret to these delightful waffle desserts lies in super-fruity sauces! Made with jams and jellies, they can be prepared in minutes and the natural fruit flavors are hard to beat. A double berry sauce combines raspberry jelly and strawberries with a hint of lemon and cinnamon for a terrific dessert topping. Serve over strawberry ice cream on warm nutty waffles.

To please the chocolate fans in your life, make waffle sundaes with chocolate chip ice cream and a unique chocolate mint sauce made with mint-flavored apple jelly. Top with whipped cream, nuts and a cherry!

Branded marmalade sauce crowns the most elegant sundae. Serve this warm spirited sauce over dessert waffles and vanilla ice cream; garnish with pecan halves.

Take the work and worry out of entertaining, and serve one of these sensational waffle sundaes at your next party!

DESSERT WAFFLES

2 cups pancake and waffle mix
2-1/2 cups buttermilk or 2 cups whole milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons honey two-thirds cup melted or liquid shortening
3/4 cup chopped walnuts

Combine waffle mix, milk, eggs, honey and shortening in mixing bowl. Beat with rotary beater until batter is fairly smooth. Stir in chopped walnuts. Bake in hot waffle iron until steaming stops.

(Waffles may be frozen. To reheat bake in oven at 400 degrees for about 5 minutes or heat in toaster at medium setting.)

DOUBLE BERRY SAUCE

1-1/4 cups raspberry jelly
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cinnamon stick
1-1/2 cups whole frozen strawberries, thawed

In small saucepan, combine raspberry jelly, lemon juice and cinnamon. Bring to a boil, stirring until jelly is melted and smooth. Simmer several minutes. Remove from heat and cool.

Remove cinnamon stick; stir in strawberries. Sauce may be stored in the refrigerator, but bring to room temperature before serving.

Belly dancing art form opens Home Arts season

A touch of the Middle East was introduced to the Home Arts Club at its opening meeting of the new season Sept. 12 at North Junior High School. Program chairman Virginia Turney introduced Diana O'Brien, an instructor from the Vivian School of Dance in Wayne, who dances under the pseudonym "Ya Shara" when performing belly dancing.

Mrs. O'Brien, who will be teaching the technique in the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department's fall program, gave a brief history of belly dancing which was introduced to the United States in 1893 when "Little Egypt" performed at the World's Fair. She stressed that the dance is an art form which originated as a pagan ritual in the days of the pharaohs.

With several volunteers from the membership she then demonstrated the various movements which involve the neck, hips, arms and hands. She then changed to a costume and veils reminiscent of Arabian Nights and performed, two different dances, one to a pulsating recording and the other to slower, more sensuous music.

Mark Rairick, director of the Parks and Recreation Department, was on hand for the demonstration and invited the group to take part in the upcoming township classes.

In keeping with the theme for the evening, hostesses Elaine Habel, Beverly Eichold and Virginia Turney served special Middle East cookies and slices of baklava, a Greek pastry. Burning incense also helped set the mood for the program.

At the short business meeting conducted by president Charlotte Price, Sally Jones turned in her resignation as secretary since she and her family have moved to Monroe. Twenty members answered roll call with 16 guests introduced: Sylvia Amerman, Rhoda Chapo, Melba Woodby, Gerry Kelly, Stephanie Box, Jean Stone, Nancy Trevorrow, Jane Szaraz, Sye Chen, Lori Summer, Joy Hill, Phyllis Johnson, Toni Schwartz, Betty Vincent, Anita Parsons and Connie Krebs.

Lee Smith explained plans for the October meeting which will be the traditional smorgasbord dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the home economics room of North Junior High School. Those attending are to bring a dish of foreign extraction as well as their own table service. A representative from American Air Lines will be present to give an interesting demonstration on the proper way to pack a suitcase. Special musical entertainment also is on the agenda.

In November, Lillian Ray explained, the group would visit Ray's Greenhouses and see for themselves just how pine roping and wreaths are fashioned for the holiday season. Refreshments will be served afterwards at the Elwell Road home of Virginia Turney.

December will find the club at its annual Christmas party and exchange of homemade or handmade gift items and in January, Avis White has lined up a mini-French lesson for the membership to add to its versatility.

Even more interesting programs are promised for the remainder of the club year which always culminates with the club banquet in May.

Those interested in joining the Home Arts Club have merely to attend the next meeting which, for October only, is at 6:30 p.m. Prospective members may also call Virginia Turney at 697-4436 for further information.

Overeaters — care to revitalize club?

Romulus just a short time ago had an Overeaters Anonymous organization which aided a number of people who really found it hard to control their weight and stop eating so much. For various and sundry reasons, the group dwindled and the club eventually died a slow death.

If anyone is interested in revitalizing the program, they may telephone 941-2664 and receive every possible means of help and cooperation. The person that answers has all the pamphlets and information necessary for reorganization and will even take care of setting up a meeting place for potential clubsters.

Parties "shower" couples planning October weddings

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Judy Hudge and Tom Sayre, who'll join the ranks of the newlyweds come October 28, were jointly honored at a couples' shower the afternoon of Sept. 11. Handling the host detail were Lynne and Lois Hamilton, Clyde and Marian Batzer and Floyd and Sally Griffith. The two o'clock party was held at the Hamilton home on East Huron River Drive. And despite September's temperamental weather, the elements cooperated with the hosts' plans for holding the festivities outdoors.

Some 45 close friends and relatives from Ann Arbor and Belleville enjoyed hors d'oeuvres and cocktails as the young couple shared the pleasant task of opening a heap of gifts for their future home.

With the invitations designating "His 'n Hers Tool Shower," there was something in each package for the bride-elect, as well as her prospective husband. Gift selections ranged from small electrical appliances and utensils for her kitchen to a tool chest, wrenches and electric drill for his workshop. There was even a stepladder (a gift from the bride-elect's father — hm-m-m?) tucked in among the packages.

After the presents had been checked out and cleared away by Cindy Hudge, Sheila Stabnau, Jeff Sayre and Jeff Smith (two-thirds of the wedding attendants) the hostesses served a ham buffet supper.

Judy and Tom, whose parents, the Bill Hudes and Jim Sayres, were among those attending, will exchange wedding vows at St. Anthony's next month.

Relatives host party

A miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Cynthia Armstrong and Anthony G. Talaga, who have an October altar date, was held Sept. 11 at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Tony and Mary Talaga on Clarence Street.

Tagged "miscellaneous", the shower invitations were answered by some 31 guests including the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Stokes Jr. and daughter, Claudia, from Hazel Park; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gary Yonkos from Romeo, and her son, Jeffrey. Others traveled from Mt. Clemens, Warren, Carleton, Howell, Redford, Trenton, Brownstown Township and Romulus for the festivities.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mary Talaga, Sandra Lauth, Elizabeth Bokon, Susan Stein, Karin Talaga and Virginia Stokes. The lawn party included a couple bridal theme games with the door prizes going to Christine Yonkos and Nancy Trevorrow.

A full-course buffet dinner followed after which the young couple opened their many gifts. On hand to help them were their niece and nephews, Tracy and David Yonkos and Christopher Stein.

The future bride, who was honored with a corsage of white roses and baby's breath, will walk up the aisle of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville and become Mrs. Anthony G. Talaga on Oct. 1.

New services offered at Romulus Library

The Romulus Public Library, located at 11121 Wayne Road, has begun a new clipping service to provide current information to students and others interested in current events.

A recipe exchange file has also been activated. It contains recipes on a variety of soups and appetizers, eggs and cheese dishes, meats and fish, vegetables and salads, breads and rolls, cakes, pies and cookies and many miscellaneous dishes.

People in the community are invited to bring in their favorite recipes to share with other library patrons.

Still another innovation is the pattern exchange file which will eventually contain a variety of sizes and styles in dresses and other garments. Patterns can be used and returned or another pattern may be exchanged in place of the pattern you would like to keep.

A variety of interesting needlework and craft manuals are also available.

Extention sets two sessions on program on time management

The Michigan Association Extension Homemakers (MAEH) will open its fall season next month with a time management program at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 11 and at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 13.

"Got a Minute?" will be a class on how to plan one's time as a home engineer. It will explain how to use time and energy effectively by streamlining cleaning and homekeeping methods.

The two sessions will be held at the Romulus Community Center Building at the corner of Wayne and Goddard Roads. Both are open to all interested homemakers in the area. For further information, call 941-0598.

On Oct. 27 at 9:30 a.m. the MAEH council will hold a meeting in the same location.

Landscape Nursery Show and sale to be at Eastern Market

Red maple, honey locusts, spruces and yews are among the many trees and shrubs that will be on display at Landscape and Nursery Day, a show and sale encompassing everything the home landscaper needs to add new life to his lawn.

The show and sale will be held Sunday, Sept. 25, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Detroit's Eastern Market and is cosponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, the City of Detroit and the Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association.

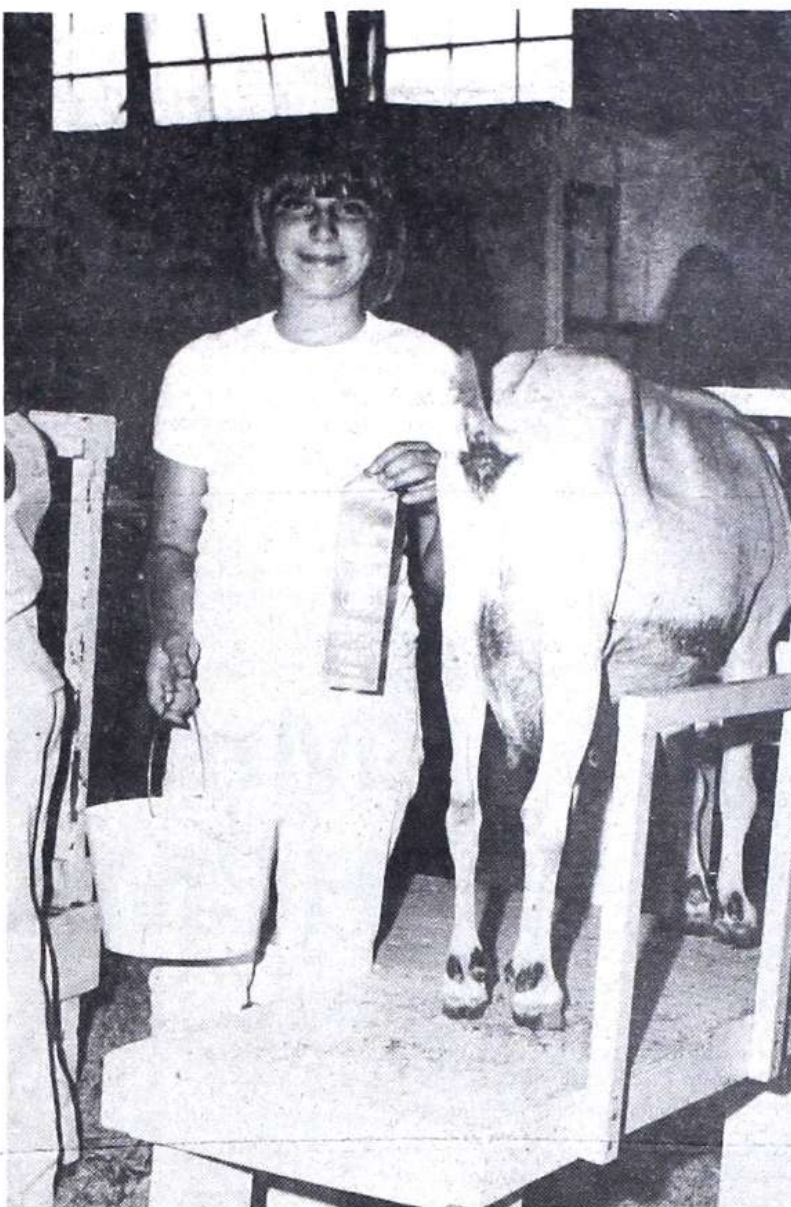

Landscape logic can make a difference. A healthy, green lawn, attractive flowers, trees and shrubs can add to home resale value; and proper selection and placement of shrubs, trees and other materials can help decrease the energy required to keep your home comfortable during winter and summer.

Master gardeners, extension horticulturists and landscaping experts will be available to answer questions and advise consumers on the whole spectrum of landscaping problems—including plant selection, planting and proper care methods.

The landscape and nursery show will afford home gardeners an opportunity to browse through displays of various perennials, evergreens, shrubbery and ground cover, many of which will be sold at special fall prices.

Fairs exhibit versatility of youth

Young people throughout the area displayed a wide range of talents and abilities at the recent Wayne County 4-H Fair held in Belleville. With a big smile, April Polzin of 49875 Willow Road accepted the blue ribbon in her age group for extracting the most milk from her pet goat in the allotted three minute timing. She also won the first premium of money along with the ribbon at the recent Michigan State Fair where she showed goats in competition with many other youths. Shown in the photo at right is the beautiful afghan knitted by Veronica Yaeger of 22523 Rust Road, New Boston. The handiwork netted Veronica the sweepstakes grand award in the youth division at the recent Michigan State Fair.

Crafters must use 'critter control'

Gathering nuts, seed pods, pine cones and other plant materials for craft projects can be fun. But you may be acquiring a horde of unwelcome house guests.

"Seeds, nuts, grains and other materials may be infested by insects," says Jim Liebherr, Extension entomologist at Michigan State University. "Your finished projects may be literally crawling with them unless you take some precautions with the raw materials."

The best way to be sure these materials are not bug-laden is to bake them, Liebherr suggests. Place the materials in a thin layer on a shallow pan, he advises. Turn the oven on at its lowest setting and bake the items for an hour or so. This should kill any hidden pests that might otherwise crawl out later. Spiders, ants, weevils and moth larvae may travel into the home on craft materials. Once in the home, materials may become infested with Indian meal moths, sawtoothed grain beetles, confused flour beetles and other pests of stored food.

Food products like dried beans, rice and pasta shapes, which often turn up in the so-called "ecology boxes," may also be plagued by insects. Bean beetles, rice and granary weevils, and other kitchen storage pests may move right in.

To avoid such problems, Liebherr suggests you keep your kitchen storage areas free of insect pests and heat-treat craft materials before you use them. Store craft articles that might become infested in a dry storage area in tightly closed containers with mothballs. Check stored items occasionally to catch infestations while they're still manageable.

ADK opens club year at Quirk

The first meeting of the new year for Alpha Delta Kappa, (ADK), Gamma Gamma Chapter, honorary sorority for women educators, took place at Quirk School with Sally Griffith and Anne Smith as co-hostesses.

Twenty-two were in attendance to take part in the evening business which included discussing programs for the club year and announcement of committee memberships. It's a boy! Warners are parents

Their first child, a son, was born Aug. 11 to Dennis and Kimberly Jo Warner of Belleville.

The new heir, who put in his appearance at 7:35 a.m. and weighed in at eight pounds, was titled "Dennis John Warner II."

Seaway Hospital in Trenton was the site of the big event which made grandparents of Cletus and Normajean Price of Roscommon, formerly of Belleville. The Prices were in the area from Aug. 12 to 19 to get acquainted with the new addition to their family tree.

The paternal grandparents are Grant and Grace Warner of Oscoda.

Business was mixed with fun when the Belleville delegation enjoyed a picnic lunch while bicycling the eight miles around the island.

Barb Thetford is honored at shower

On Tuesday evening, Sept. 13, Mrs. Vernon Ketchum and Mrs. Lloyd Orr of Harmony Lane were co-hostesses at a bridal shower held at the latter's home honoring Barbara Jane Thetford. Present for an evening of appropriate games were 12 relatives and friends, many taking home prizes. The door award was won by Gayle Graves of Westland.

Frances Freysinger helped decorate the umbrella and chair with colored net in which the honored guest sat to open her many gifts. Lunch was served later.

Barbara Jane will become the bride of Ronald Venis of Ypsilanti in December.

Housing: From farms to high rises

The following thoughts were submitted by Mr. Anonymous. Although his ideas do not necessarily reflect my own, I feel his essay will be of interest to our senior readers. He writes: "Throughout history the aged, indigent and senile have been a problem for society. In times past, here, and especially in China, it was assumed by most right thinking people, that because their parents had cared for them during their infancy and childhood years and when they could not live by their own efforts, it naturally became the duty of grown children to care for their parents who could no longer care for themselves. Many people financially were unable to do this; many more found it easier to shirk their moral obligation, or even admit its existence. Hence, the poor house, or farm, depending on location.

"In rural areas, the poor were housed in a large dwelling on a large, nearly self-supporting farm. This brought the cost down into the realm of the taxpayer. Physical and medical care were inadequate according to modern standards, but considering the era, probably were as good as could be expected. While food and lodging may have been adequate, the social climate was not. Older people, being more set in their ways, were not flexible enough to accept this new style of existence and usually were unhappy about it.

Today, the problem of the poor still exists, but the solution alters. Our society has turned from rural to urban, so we attempt to solve our problem as city people. It has been suggested that, in just a few years, the single dwelling with lawn will become expensive for the average working man to obtain. They then will be forced to live as renters in a condominium or highrise.

"Like the young, the elderly gradually are converging on multiple dwellings. It represents to them a type of housing they can physically and financially maintain with government subsidy. The bad effects are the same for the old as for the young, except it is more difficult for them to alter their life style from the comfort, privacy, and security of home ownership to the monthly budget system of apartment living. The impersonality of dealing with the corporation must be very foreign to their tastes.

Condominiums, highrises and businesses continue to replace our homes, and we are forced to go with the trend of our times whether we like it or not."

J Building's garden plots' have been a great success this year. For the past month our gardeners have been sharing cucumbers, tomatoes, green beans and squash with us.

Summer squash is one of my favorite vegetables, so a special thanks to Mr. Bagget for supplying me with enough to freeze. This winter I'll be able to enjoy summer squash while the snow falls. Thanks also to Mr. Raack and Mrs. Krol for the lovely flowers they brought from home. The gladiolas and mums have given me many days of pleasure.

Mrs. Weiss named HCMA commissioner

Janette S. Weiss has been appointed by Gov. William G. Milliken to the Board of Commissioners of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) a regional park agency with 10 metroparks serving the citizens of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties. Major metroparks include Metro Beach, Stony Creek, Kensington, Hudson Mills, Lower Huron and Willow.

She is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, the Women's Economic Club of Detroit, League of Women's Voters, United Negro College Fund, "Who's Who in American Politics" and is involved in many other community and political activities. She is married to Leven C. Weiss, a tax lawyer with the firm of Reinhart and Weiss. They reside at 4676 West Outer Drive, Detroit.

Mrs. Weiss will represent the district-at-large on the HCMA Board for a 4-year term ending May 2, 1981. The appointment began September 1, 1977.

She succeeds Eugene J. Ellison, president of Mark Body Co. of Macomb County and vice-president of SOS Consolidated Inc. of Birmingham, who was appointed on May 27, 1965. Ellison served 12 years — three 4-year terms. He is a former Mayor St. Clair Shores, where he resides.

The present 7-member HCMA board consists of two gubernatorial appointees — Kurt R. Keydel and Mrs. Weiss — plus one representative from each of the five counties — William E. Kreger of Wayne County, Thomas S. Welsh of Macomb County, Charles R. Shafer of Oakland County, Clifton W. Heller of Livingston County and John H. Dillon of Washtenaw County.

The gubernatorial appointees serve 4-year terms, while the county representatives serve 6-year terms.

The Circus comes to town

Smallest man, polar bear headline 106th edition

Ursula Bottcher and her trained polar bears

The circus is coming to town, and along with it trained polar bears and the smallest man in the world.

For the first time in almost 30 years the 106th edition of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus will feature fancy-footed, solemn faced, towering white polar bears when it opens this week at Olympia Stadium in Detroit.

From the German Democratic Republic, the Greatest Show on Earth will present petite Ursula Bottcher and the world's largest group of performing polar bears.

Ursula will put the bears through their paces — waltzing with her furry friends, commanding them into a spectacular pyramid and feeding one giant with a morsel from her lips.

While bears can be taught more tricks than any other animal, they are considered the most dangerous wild beast because they give no indication when they might attack.

On the tamer side, Michu, the Michu, the smallest man in the world smallest man in the world, will be the headliner of this year's circus visit to Detroit.

The miniature marvel of mankind, weighing 25 lbs. and standing 33 inches tall, is an extraordinary entertainer with credentials and experience that belie his slight frame.

Discovered in his native Hungary in 1973, Michu has a rich background of training and experience in circus skills. His parents, both 6 inches taller than he, were members of Budapest's Lilliputian Theatre. Michu attended a school of circus arts as a child, and is proficient in juggling, acrobatics and pantomime.

This year, Michu and his tiny sweetheart, Juliana, participate in a spectacular circus wedding at each performance with the entire circus family as attendants and the audience as guests.

That lavish production salutes the history of the circus in America, recreating General Tom Thumb's celebrated nuptials of 1863.

Showtimes for the circus are 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. through Thursday, 4 and 8 p.m. Friday, 11 a.m., 3 and 8 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 and 5:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets for the Greatest Show on Earth are on sale at the Olympia Box office, all Montgomery Ward stores and Olympia Travel in Birmingham.

For further information and group rates, call 895-7000.

Renaissance is popular

One of the hottest tickets in town seems to be the Music Hall Center's "Renaissance Series," a mixed bag of entertainment offerings.

The Renaissance Series begins on Oct. 9 with a concert by the internationally-beloved Vienna Choir Boys. These 20 dozen youngsters will perform at 6:30 p.m.

The next show in the series is on Nov. 18, when The Acting Company from New York presents Tennessee Williams' "Camino Real."

In December, California's Oakland Ballet will perform the ever-popular "Nutcracker" as the series' holiday treat. In February, the Broadway musical "Robber Bridegroom" will bow on the Music Hall stage. This rousing show is about a rascal highwayman. It won a Tony Award this year for its New York star, Barry Bostwick.

From a splashy musical to the romantic intimacy of composer Michel Legrand is the next direction taken by the Music Hall's Renaissance Series. The writer of such dreamy hits as "Summer of '42" and "Windmills of Your Mind" spends an evening in March alone on stage with his world of music.

Rounding out the selections in the Renaissance sampling are Ferrante and Teicher, the highly entertaining piano duo whose recordings of "Exodus" and "Theme from The Apartment" are familiar in every American household. They will appear next April 15.

Season tickets for the Renaissance Series are available at subscriber discounts now through Oct. 1.

For ticket information call the Music Hall Subscription Office at 963-6943. Single tickets for all performances are available.

Music Hall Center is located at 350 Madison Avenue three blocks from the Chrysler Expressway.

Sonny Rollins opens Eclipse Jazz series

The sounds of Sonny Rollins will fill the Michigan Union Ballroom on the campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, when he appears in two shows each Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

Sonny Rollins and John Coltrane were the two most important tenor saxophonists to develop in the 1950s. Both incorporated the innovations of Dexter Gordon, Charlie Parker and other bebop players into original voices.

Rollins' frequent recordings over the last 30 years are distinguished by their wide stylistic differences. Rollins plays Rollins, captured in whatever style intrigues him at the moment. He is known for his Latin-oriented recordings, his free performances with Don Cherry, and his electric group today.

Sonny Rollins came to New York in the late '40s. His first recordings were with Babs Gonzales and Bud Powell. In the early 50s, he was an important member of Miles Davis' group, and performed with Jackie McLean, Fats Navarro and Art Blakey.

In 1956, Rollins joined one of the most creative post-bop groups — the Clifford Brown-Max Roach Quintet. At this time he also recorded with Thelonious Monk. Significantly, his stay with Brown-Roach was his last as a sideman. A series of important recordings has followed ever since.

Rollins also has become a legend, retiring from public performance just when he was beginning to get well-deserved recognition, and practicing solo at night on the Williamsburg Bridge in New York.

This concert is produced by Eclipse Jazz, a non-profit volunteer collective presenting jazz in Ann Arbor. Eclipse is a member of the University Activities Center (UAC) and is funded in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Tickets cost $3.50 and are on sale at the Michigan Union box office, Schoolkids Records, both Discount Records in Ann Arbor and East Lansing, or by mail. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope (no personal checks to Rollins-UAC Ticket Central, 2nd Floor Michigan Union, Ann Arbor 48109).

Season tickets also are available until Oct. 1, including the Rollins, Gordon Dexter, Art Ensemble of Chicago and Oscar Peterson concerts, for $15.

For further information contact Eclipse Jazz at 763-1107.

Jack Frost begins annual fall landscape painting job

For a different view of Michigan's forests ablaze with fall color, ride a chairlift up a mountain, canoe down a river, watch salmon swim upstream to spawn or bicycle through the countryside, suggests Automobile Club of Michigan.

An afternoon drive to a cider mill or winery on back roads framed with leaves of brilliant red, orange and gold is another enjoyable way to experience Michigan in the fall.

Panoramic views of woods and water await travelers who ride the 810-foot chairlift to the summit of Copper Peak, the ski flying hill 10 miles northeast of Ironwood in the western Upper Peninsula.

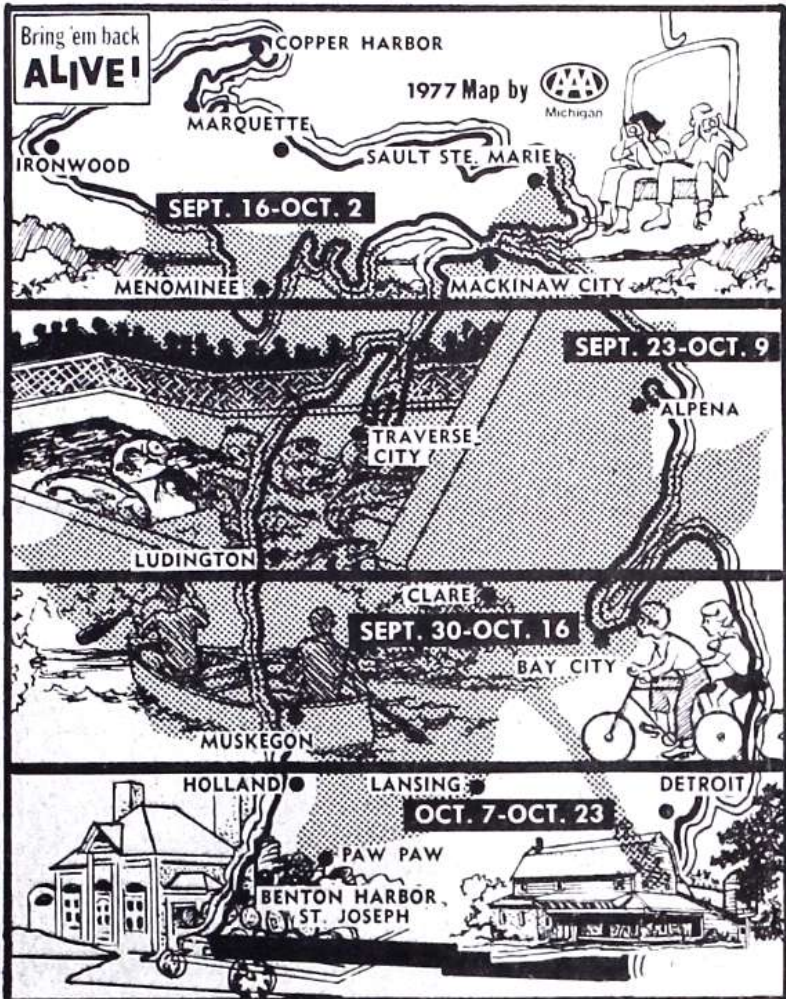

From the summit, climb another 188 feet by elevator to the Observation Deck, where dense pine and hardwood forests of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota can be seen contrasted against the seemingly endless blue water of Lake Superior.

The Copper Peak chairlift and elevator operate between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekends only through mid-October, weather permitting. For information, call (906) 932-3500.

For a close-up look at rugged wilderness scenery, try canoeing down the Maple River, starting at US-27 in Maple Rapids and ending where it meets the Grand River at Muir. Brightly colored fall foliage lines both sides of the river as it flows for nearly 30 miles through the Maple River State Game Area. Wildlife often can be seen at the river's edge.

The Flat River, another tributary of the Grand, offers more wilderness canoeing in the Lowell State Game Area. A multitude of other scenic rivers in Michigan provide breathtaking settings for fall color viewing.

Salmon watchers fascinated by the spectacle of thousands of coho and chinook surging up Michigan streams to spawn often find the annual migration occurs when northwest Lower Michigan's fall color is near its peak.

At the Department of Natural Resources hatchery about five miles east of Honor, a 60-foot-wide waterfall blocks the salmon's journey up the Platte River, forcing them to churn their way up fish ladders into holding ponds.

Sometimes up to 20,000 coho can be seen leaping and bounding up the fish ladder as they obey their natural urge to spawn and die. The sight of salmon so numerous they swim in layers attracts thousands of spectators every year. To find out the best time for salmon watching, call the DNR office in Cadillac at (616) 775-9728.

Pedaling a bike on Michigan's back roads gives travelers another opportunity to slow down for a better view of bright fall foliage. One Auto Club-recommended 33-mile bike route from Holland to Grand Haven follows the Lake Michigan shoreline with its towering sand dunes and stately homes.

Another 30-mile mid-Michigan bicycle adventure along BR-27 between Alma and Clare gives bikers a chance to tour the Central Michigan University campus in Mount Pleasant and visit the 450-acre Isabella Indian Reservation.

Fields of dried corn stalks and bright orange pumpkins framed by leaves of red, yellow and gold make a pretty picture when seen through a car window during an afternoon's drive to a winery or cider mill, Auto Club notes.

Michigan's wine country is centered in Berrien and Van Buren counties, where the harvest and crushing of grapes are in full swing in late September and early October. This year's 10th annual Grape and Wine Festival at Paw Paw Sept. 16-18 is expected to draw some 50,000 persons.

Seven wineries offer daily tours complete with wine tasting, and the surrounding sweet-smelling vineyards provide a pretty picture when seen against a backdrop of woods in autumn colors.

Another sure sign of fall is the opening of cider mill season. A majority of Michigan's nearly 70 cider mills are in southeast Michigan just a short drive from large metropolitan areas.

A cider mill tour is a delight for youngsters who can watch the apples being pressed and then sample the finished product. The whole family should enjoy the backroads wandering through farmland and forests tinged with red, yellow and gold.

Because of recent dry weather, the fall color season is about three weeks ahead of schedule. In the U.P., color should be at its peak starting Sept. 16 and ending Oct. 2.

Full color should spread to northern Lower Michigan Sept. 23 through Oct. 9; central Lower Michigan, Sept. 30-Oct. 16, and southern Lower Michigan, Oct. 7-23.

Color tour information can be obtained from area tourist bureaus or chambers of commerce, and Auto Club members will find up-to-date reports available at local offices across Michigan.

Hertel seeks amendment to Child Protection Act

Legislation has been introduced by State Rep. Dennis Hertel of Detroit that would amend the state's Child Protection Act.

Hertel's proposal would establish a toll-free hot line for reporting suspected cases of child abuse and mal-treatment. It also would require Department of Social Services offices to maintain a separate specific child protection service capable of investigating reports within 24 hours and taking any steps necessary to protect the child.

The Hertel bill is modeled after a New York statute that established a child abuse hot line in New York in 1973. Since that time, cases of reported child abuse in New York have increased 8 percent over each previous year.

"This does not mean that more children are being abused in New York, but rather that more children are being rescued from abuse situations," Hertel explained.

The bill would provide for round the clock staffing of the hot line and would guarantee that all information collected through it would remain confidential until by the state, but all local communities would be able to utilize it.

"Thousands of child victims go unrecognized each year and become mere statistics in accident reports," Hertel said. "They appear at all levels of society among the poor and the affluent, the illiterate and the well-educated."

"This bill will hopefully provide a vehicle by which we can find these mistreated children before their lives are lost."

If the Hertel child abuse hot line is established, an investigation would be made promptly following each call. The Department of Social Services would take action to prevent further injury to the child and safeguard his welfare. The family services division would act to preserve and stabilize family life whenever possible.

The law authorizes that all citizens can make a report, but some, like doctors and social workers, would be held to a higher standard and must report suspected cases of abuse.

The act also would provide "any person, official or institution participating in good faith in the making of a report...pursuant to this title shall have immunity from any liability, civil or criminal, that might otherwise result by reason of such actions". If an individual makes a report in bad faith, being vindictive or unreasonable, that person would be liable to civil and possibly criminal penalties.

Rep. Hertel concluded: "The physical abuse of children, aside from being one of the most heinous offenses an adult can commit, can destroy the entire developmental process of the child."

"An absurd and maltreated child stands little chance of growing to become a normal, healthy, contributing member of society."

"As long as we stand idly by and watch without helping, the guilt for this situation is as much ours as the offenders."

EMU class helps train foster parents

More than 6,000 Michigan children can't relate to the family life they see popularized on Television's "The Waltons". They only know a life of neglect, physical abuse and trouble.

Statistics show that few people are willing to take responsibility for these kids. It's not easy to understand a child who interprets a slap in the face, or a physical beating, as love. A small handful of people, however, do care and are willing to do what they can to help these troubled children. They are Michigan's foster parents.

The Foster Parent Training Project at Eastern Michigan University is helping those unselfish volunteers learn the art of foster parenting. Now in its fourth year, the project has provided training to more than 1,000 foster parents in Michigan.

The EMU Board of Regents recently accepted a grant for $156,203 from the Metro-politan Center of the National Institute of Mental Health to continue the EMU-based program. The project currently offers 19 different 8-week programs that deal with a number of topics.

Some of the courses offered by the project cover legal issues, parental rights, insurance and communicating with professionals. Other course offerings are concerned with the normal growth and development of children and explore problems encountered during normal sexual development.

A special group of classes investigates special problems of the battered and abused child, the emotionally impaired child, the mentally retarded child and teenagers.

After prospective foster parents complete four of the 8-week courses, EMU awards them a certificate. Thus far, 161 Michigan foster parents have earned foster parent certificates from EMU.

One of the advantages of the project is its outreach, according to Bruce Warren, associate project director. In fact, 77 percent of Michigan's foster parents live within 30 minutes of one of the EMU project's 26 locations.

Warren noted that there are 15,000 foster parents in the State of Michigan. More than 6,500 children need foster homes — 2,500 in Wayne County alone.

Volunteer foster parents receive no salary and are reimbursed less than 80 percent of the costs incurred for caring for the children. They end up paying much of the cost of raising the foster child out of their own pocket. National statistics show that foster children usually stay an average of five years in a foster home — far too long, according to Warren.

"The goals are to find the child a permanent home or return him to his natural parents," he said. "This project started because foster parents and social service agencies saw the need for increased training because children coming into foster homes often came with a greater set of difficulties physically, mentally and emotionally."

"Foster parents get all kinds of kids. Kids come into foster care through abuse or neglect, by not being able to stay out of trouble and some voluntarily...Some kids have sick parents or parents who are unable to take care of them for one reason or another," Warren explained.

Although foster children range in age from infancy to 17 years, almost 25 percent of them are teen-agers.

"Teen-agers most commonly come into care because their parents can't control them or because they run away from home," Warren said.

The EMU program, the largest in the nation for training foster parents, is primarily geared toward training foster parents who serve neglected and dependent children. A statewide advisory board guides the project to assure it meets the needs of all foster children in the state.

During the last two years, several community and junior colleges joined with Eastern in offering foster parent classes within their respective service areas. They are Glen Oaks Community College, Grand Rapids Junior College, Lansing Community College, Muskegon Community College, Southwestern Michigan College, Kalamazoo Valley Community College and Mountcarm Community College.

Jackson Community College, Monroe Community College and Kellogg Community College also offer classes in foster care. Instructors in the program come from various fields and usually have other full-time jobs in their communities.

Persons interested in attending the foster parent courses at one of several locations throughout Michigan should contact the field coordinator in their area.

Individuals in Monroe, Lenawee, Hillsdale, Branch, St. Joseph, Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Jackson, Ingham and Clinton counties should contact the project's Jackson field coordinator, Lois Rutkin, at Jackson Community College. Call (517) 787-0800 for more information.

Those in the western Michigan counties of Cass, Berrien, Van Buren, Allegan, Ottawa, Kent, Mountcarm, Mecosta, Newago, Muskegon and Oceana should contact Judy Visser at Grand Rapids Community College at (616) 456-4916.

Residents of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Genesee and Washtenaw counties can contact the project's headquarters at EMU at (313) 487-0182.

For more information on the EMU Foster Parent Training Project, call Jean McFadden at EMU at (313) 487-0182. Eight-week classes are scheduled to begin the first week of October.

The goals are to find the children permanent homes...

'Billiard Bash' to help Easter Seal societies

The days of smoke filled pool rooms are a thing of the past. Pool, or billiards, now is a family affair and families are what the Easter Seal Societies are all about.

As part of the fund-raising program, the Tri-County Easter Seal societies are holding their first annual "Billiard Bash", an 8 Ball Tournament at the Main Event Ballroom in the Pontiac Silverdome on Nov. 2 — 5.

Any establishment, or home with a pool table, is eligible to enter with the payment of a sanction fee to the Easter Seal Society of $10 for one to four tournaments, $14 for five or six tournaments and $18 for seven or eight tournaments.

A player will enter by paying of $3 to the sanctioned location for each tournament entered, and $1 of this money will be given to the Easter Seal Society.

Honorary chairman for this event will be WWJ's own Bob "Hoosier Slim" Allison, who has run a few racks of balls in his day. Assisting Bob as co-chairmen will be Bob Mullen, of: Q Master in Berkley and Harry Stewart of Midas Muffler in Lincoln Park.

Mullen is the former president of the Billiard and Bowling Institute of America and now owns and operates a custom pool table manufacturing plant in Berkley along with a billiard equipment store.

Stewart has become actively involved with the Easter Seal Societies and their national telethons as Midas Muffler is a national corporate sponsor.

Harry resides in the Rochester area with his family. The fabulous and legendary "Minnesota Fats" will be holding forth for Easter Seals and act as the major domo throughout the entire tournament.

Along with the Fatman, super shooter Palmer Byrd, a ranking female billiardist of national renown, and 48 local celebrities such as The Ghoul, Bob Talbert, Jimmy Launce, Margaret Strom, Marc Avery and others. The Ghoul has devised his own tournament he calls, "Ghoul Pool", which will help fill the pockets of 13 pool tables and more importantly, the pockets of the Easter Seal Societies.

Flapjack flippers

Belleville's Derek King (left) and his brother, Butch (right) flanked Detroit mayoral candidate Ernest Brown as they flipped flapjacks at the fifth annual Boy Scout Pancake Bake, recently held in the "Motor City". The Kings are the owners of King Pancake Co. in Belleville. They prepared more than 7,000 pancakes at the event that raised money to send 300 youths to camp next summer.

Guidelines announced for free meals, milk

New, more liberal guidelines, qualifying children for free and reduced price school lunches, have been announced by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

The new rules apply to all students in public and non-public schools and children in schools operated by a residential child care institution.

Eligibility for free lunches, free milk or reduced price meals is determined by family size and income. For instance, a family of four with an income of $7,610 annually qualifies for free lunches. If the same family's income is $7,611 to $11,880, the children can receive reduced price meals, costing not more than 20 cents.

Some families whose income is higher than specified still may qualify for free meals, if they have high medical bills, disaster or casualty losses or shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of their income. In certain cases, foster children also are eligible for these benefits, as well as some children of unemployed parents.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in letters to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year and guidelines for these programs specify that no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, creed, color or national origin.

State authorities noted: "To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct. An additional statement is added to warn that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of federal funds, that school officials may, for cause, verify the information in the application, and that deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable state and criminal statutes."

The income guidelines for free meals and milk are $3,930 - for a family of one, $5,160 for a family of two, $6,390 for a family of three, $7,610 for a family of four, $8,740 for a family of five, $9,860 for a family of six, $10,890 for a family of seven, $11,910 for a family of eight, $12,840 for a family of nine, $13,760 for a family of 10, $14,680 for a family of 11, $15,590 for a family of 12 and $910 for each additional family member thereafter.

The income guidelines for reduced price meals are from $3,931 to $6,120 for a family of one, $5,161 to $8,050 for a family of two, $6,391 to $9,970 for a family of three, $7,611 to $11,880 for a family of four, $8,741 to $13,630 for a family of five, $9,861 to $15,380 for a family of six, $10,891 to $16,980 for a family of seven, $11,911 to $18,580 for a family of eight, $12,841 to $20,030 for a family of nine, $13,761 to $21,470 for a family of 10, $14,681 to $22,890 for a family of 11, $15,591 to $24,310 for a family of 12 and $1,420 for each additional family member.

Applicants sought for state's foster grandparent work

The Michigan Office of Services to the Aging now is accepting preliminary applications for the Foster Grandparent Program.

A state appropriation of $654,000 has been authorized by the Michigan Legislature to expand Foster Grandparent services in the state. Four grants will be awarded for the coming fiscal year, Oct. 1 through Sept. 30, 1978.

Any public or private non-profit agency or institution may apply for a grant. They must be able to provide 10 percent local matching funds. The deadline for submitting preliminary applications is Sept. 30.

The Foster Grandparent Program offers opportunities for senior citizens to give individual attention to mentally and emotionally disturbed children and young adults. Persons age 60 and older with an income of $3,260 or less can participate in the program. They work four hours a day, five days a week, 50 weeks a year and receive a small stipend.

Foster Grandparents work in a variety of settings — institutions for mentally retarded, pediatric wards in hospitals, correction facilities, institutions for emotionally disturbed and physically handicapped, public schools and others.

Presently, 1,200 children and young adults throughout the state are served by 600 Foster Grandparents. ACTION, the Federal volunteer agency, provides $1.1 million to operate seven programs located in Detroit, Ypsilanti, Alpena, Oakland County, Howell, Muskegon and Coldwater. An eighth program in Port Huron is funded with federal and state funds.

For more information or an application contact the Office of Services to the Aging, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing 48909, or call (517) 373-8560.

Economic indicators: The deciding factors

A builder considers launching a garden apartment project. A municipality ponders the advisability of giving the builder a permit. A school board looks at how the project would affect school population. A bank decides whether to help finance the project if it is approved. And families ultimately may debate the question of whether to sign a lease and move in.

Every segment of the economy faces key financial decisions like these each day. Is there solid information available that can help?

The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) whose members wrestle continuously with such questions on behalf of their business, government and individual clients, say sources of information are available in the form of statistics known as economic indicators.

How many workers have been laid off this month? How many hired? How many freight cars were loaded with manufactured goods last week? What is the trend in interest rates? The responses to such questions, and dozens of others like them, tell a great deal about what is happening to the economy and its various sectors, the CPAs said.

And the indicators are even more useful when they track conditions in the state or region for most of us the primary interest lies; it's in the local economy that we live and either prosper or fail.

Local, regional, or national, the indicators with the greatest value for decision-making are called leading indicators because they precede other events, often portending developments that lie ahead.

National leading indicators are reported in Business Conditions Digest, a monthly publication of the U.S. Department of Commerce. The 12 statistics considered most significant include average work-week (overtime would suggest the economy is heating up), layoff rate in manufacturing, new orders in manufacturing, sales by vendors, contracts and orders signed for new plants and equipment, changes in total liquid assets, new business formations, Standard and Poors' Stock Index, "real" money in circulation and changes in inventories both on hand and on order.

The CPA association said one of the roles its members play is to help decide how such national trends affect the local scene and uncover local indicators — unemployment rates, birth rates, regional agricultural production, etc. — to supplement the national figures.

In some cases, local indicators are assembled by organizations, such as Chambers of Commerce, the regional Federal Reserve Board, or banks. In others the CPAs have to dig them out on their own, from state or city agencies' records or non-governmental sources.

One should not put complete trust in the indicators, the CPAs warned, for they can easily be upset by seasonal, climatic or other developments. Housing permits issued is not equivalent to housing starts and, if the economy turns down sharply, housing starts may not be the same as houses completed.

The CPAs advise that the indicators are of the greatest use when considered in conjunction with all sorts of other information, plus experience and common sense.

In this connection, a CPA spokesman cited the apocryphal case of a person who placed full trust in an indicator and drowned in a river with an average depth of 8 inches. It happened to be many feet deep where he stepped in.

The Township of Sumpter, Wayne County, Michigan hereby ordains:

ARTICLE 1.00 GENERAL

Section 1.01 Short Title:
This Ordinance shall be known as the "TOWNSHIP OF SUMPTER SUBDIVISION CONTROL ORDINANCE."

Section 1.02 Purpose:

The regulations contained herein have been enacted to provide for the orderly growth and harmonious development of the community; to secure adequate traffic circulation through coordinated street systems with relation to major streets, adjoining subdivisions, and public facilities; to achieve individual property lots of maximum utility and livability; to secure adequate provisions for water supply, drainage and sanitary sewerage, and other health requirements; to secure adequate provisions for recreational areas, school sites, and other public facilities; and to provide reasonable and logical procedures for the achievement of these purposes.

Section 1.03 Authority:

The regulations contained herein are to be interpreted and enforced by the Board of Trustees pursuant to the authority granted the Township by the State of Michigan in the Subdivision Control Act, Act 288 of the Public Acts of 1967, as amended.

Section 1.04 Jurisdiction:

a. These regulations shall apply to all subdivisions of land, resubdivisions, lot divisions and divisions of unplatted parcels located within the corporate limits of the Township.

b. No land shall be subdivided within the corporate limits of the Township until:

(1) The subdivider or his agent shall submit a preliminary plat of the parcel to the Planning Commission;

(2) Obtain approval of the preliminary and final plat by the Township Board; and

(3) the approval final plat is filed with the County Register of Deeds.

c. No building permit or certificate of occupancy shall be issued for any parcel or lot which was created by subdivision after the effective date of, and not in conformity with, the provisions of these regulations, and no excavation of land or construction of any public or private improvements shall take place or be commenced except in conformity with this ordinance.

Section 1.05 Enactment:

In order that land may be subdivided in accordance with these purposes and policy this Subdivision Control Ordinance is hereby adopted.

Section 1.06 Interpretation, Conflict, and Separability:

a. In their interpretation and application, the provisions of these regulations shall be held to be the minimum requirements for the promotion of the public health, safety, and general welfare.

b. Conflict with Public and Private Provisions.

(1) Public Provisions. The regulations are not intended to interfere with, abrogate, or annul any other ordinance, rule or regulation, statute, or other provision of law. Where any provision of these regulations imposes restrictions different from those imposed by any other provision of these regulations or any other ordinance, rule or regulation, or other provision of law, whichever provisions are more restrictive or impose higher standards shall control.

(2) Private Provisions. These regulations are not intended to abrogate any easement, covenant or any other private agreement or restriction, provided that where the provisions of these regulations are more restrictive or impose higher standards or regulations than such easement, covenant, or other private agreement or restriction, the requirements of these regulations shall govern. Where the provisions of the easement, covenant, or private agreement or restriction impose duties and obligations more, restrictive, or higher standards than the requirements of these regulations, or the determinations of the Township Board in approving a subdivision or in enforcing these regulations, and such private provisions are not inconsistent with these regulations or determinations thereunder, then such private provisions shall be operative and supplemental to these regulations and determinations made thereunder.

c. Separability. If any part or provision of these regulations or application thereof to any person or circumstances is adjudged invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction, such judgment shall be confined in its operation to the part, provision, or application directly involved in all controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered and shall not affect or impair the validity of the remainder of these regulations or the application thereof to other persons or circumstances. The Township Board hereby declares that it would have enacted the remainder of these regulations even without any such part, provision, or application.

Section 1.07 Saving Provision:

These regulations shall not be construed as abating any action now pending under, or by virtue of, prior existing subdivision regulations, or as discontinuing, abating, modifying, or altering any penalty accruing or about to accrue, or as affecting the liability of any person, firm, or corporation, or as waiving any right of the municipality under any section or provision existing at the time of adoption of these regulations, or as vacating or annulling any rights obtained by any person, firm, or corporation, by lawful action of the municipality except as shall be expressly provided for in these regulations.

Section 1.08 Amendments:

For the purpose of serving the public health, safety, and general welfare, the Township Board may from time to time amend the provisions imposed by these subdivision regulations.

Section 1.09 Resubdivision of Land:

a. Procedure for Resubdivision. For any change in a map of an approved or recorded subdivision plat, if such change affects any street layout shown on such map, or area reserved thereon for public use, such change shall be approved by the Township Board by the same procedure, rules, and regulations as for a new subdivision.

b. Procedure for Subdivisions Where Future Resubdivision Is Indicated. Whenever a parcel of land is to be subdivided and the subdivision plat shows one or more lots containing more than one acre of land, the proposed plat shall allow for the future opening of streets and the ultimate extension of adjacent streets and the resubdivision of any parcels into smaller lots. Easements providing for the future opening and extension of such streets may be made a requirement of the plat.

c. Lot Division. The division of a lot in a recorded plat is permitted provided the lot division is reviewed and approved by the Township Board. An application shall be submitted in writing to the Township Clerk and be accompanied by a sketch drawn to scale showing the original parcel, any existing buildings, utilities or easements, the proposed division, all pertinent dimensions, and the proposed legal descriptions. Accuracy shall be attested to by a registered land surveyor, licensed by the State of Michigan.

No lot in a recorded plat shall be divided into more than four (4) new lots and the resulting new lots shall not be less in width, area or depth than permitted by the zoning district in which the lot division is located, excepting in the case of a lot division of a lot of record not in conformity with the zoning ordinance which is being divided for the purposes of increasing the lot width, area or depth of the non-conforming lot. In the latter instance it shall upon consolidation, of adjoining lot or lots, be mandatory that the new parcel conform with the minimum requirements of the zoning ordinance.

d. Division of Unplatted Parcel. The division of an unplatted parcel of land into two (2), three (3) or four (4) lots involving the dedication of a new street shall require the approval of the Township Board prior to taking such action. The division of an unplatted parcel of land into two (2), three (3) or four (4) parcels and not involving the dedication of a new street or road shall require approval of the Township Supervisor.

(1) Procedures. An application for parcel division(s) shall be submitted in writing to the Township Assessor and be accompanied by a sketch drawn to scale showing the original parcel, any existing buildings, utilities or easements, the proposed division(s), all pertinent dimensions, and the proposed legal descriptions. Accuracy shall be attested to by a registered land surveyor, licensed by the State of Michigan.

(2) Required Minimum Size. The proposed division(s) shall not create parcels which would be less than that which is required by the Zoning District in which it is located nor shall any division leave an existing principal or accessory building in violation of yard setback requirements of the zoning ordinance. All land parcels resulting from any proposed division(s) shall front for their full required width (as measured at the minimum front setback line) upon a publicly dedicated road that has been accepted for maintenance by the Wayne County Road Commission.

(3) No building permit shall be issued for any proposed land parcel that, after approval by the Township, has not been filed and recorded with the Wayne County Register of Deeds.

(4) Duties of the Township Assessor: The Township Assessor shall review the proposed land parcel division to determine its compliance with this and other Township ordinances and that all taxes and special assessments have been paid. The Assessor shall consult with the Township Treasurer, Engineer, Planner, and Chief Building Official for assistance in determining suitability of Township approval. Upon completion of the review, the Assessor shall provide the Supervisor and/or the Township Board with a full report and recommendation.

Section 1.10 Variances:

a. General. Where the Township Board, after recommendation from the Planning Commission, finds that extraordinary hardships or practical difficulties may result from strict compliance with these regulations and/or the purposes of these regulations may be served to a greater extent by an alternative proposal, it may approve variances to these subdivision regulations so that substantial justice may be done and the public interest secured, provided that such variance shall not have the effect of nullifying the intent and purpose of these regulations; and further provided the Township Board shall not approve variances unless it shall make findings based upon the evidence presented to it in each specific case that:

(1) The granting of the variance will not be detrimental to the public safety, health, or welfare or injurious to other property.

(2) The conditions upon which the request for a variance is based are unique to the property for which the variance is sought and are not applicable generally to other property.

(3) Because of the particular physical surroundings, shape or topographical conditions of the specific property involved, a particular hardship to the owner would result, as distinguished from a mere inconvenience, or monetary loss, if the strict letter of these regulations are carried out.

(4) The variances will not in any manner vary the provisions of the Zoning Ordinance, Land Use Plan, or Subdivision Control Act.

b. Conditions. In approving variances, the Township Board may require such conditions as will, in its judgment, secure substantially the objectives of the standards or requirements of these regulations.

c. Procedures. A petition for any such variance shall be submitted in writing by the subdivider at the time the preliminary plat is filed for the consideration of the Planning Commission. The petition shall state fully the grounds for the application and all of the facts relied upon by the petitioner. The Township Board shall hold a public hearing to consider the petition.

Section 1.11 Enforcement, Violations, and Penalties:

a. General:

(1) It shall be the duty of the Township Planner to enforce these regulations and to bring to the attention of the Township Supervisor any violations or lack of compliance herewith; and it shall be the duty of the Township Engineer to assure compliance with the approved plans for construction of all required improvements.

(2) No owner, or agent of the owner, of any parcel of land located in a proposed subdivision shall transfer or sell any such parcel before a plat of such subdivision has been approved by the Township Board, in accordance with the provisions of these regulations, and filed with the Wayne County Register of Deeds.

(3) The subdivision of any lot or any parcel of land, by the use of metes and bounds description for the purpose of sale, transfer, or lease with the intent of evading these regulations, shall not be permitted. All such described subdivisions shall be subject to all of the requirements contained in these regulations.

(4) No building permit shall be issued for the construction and occupancy of any building or structure located on a lot or plat subdivided or sold in violation of the provisions of these regulations.

b. Violations and Penalties. Any person, firm, or corporation who fails to comply with, or violates, any of these regulations shall be subject to a fine of not more than $500.00, or imprisonment for not exceeding ninety (90) days or both.

c. Civil Enforcement. Appropriate actions and proceedings may be taken by law or in equity to prevent any violation of these regulations, to prevent unlawful construction, to recover damages, to restrain, correct, or abate a violation, to prevent illegal occupancy, of a building structure or premises, and these remedies shall be in addition to the penalties described above.

Section 1.12 Model Homes Provision:

The purpose of this section is to allow construction of model homes in a proposed subdivision but only under the following conditions:

a. The model(s) shall be constructed on proposed lots and in accordance with all conditions or regulations which would be in effect if the final plat was approved and recorded with the Wayne County Register of Deeds.

b. The preliminary plat has been approved by the Township Board.

c. No certificates of occupancy shall be issued until such time as the plat has been recorded and all utilities and improvements have been installed and accepted for maintenance.

PROCEDURE FOR PLAT PREPARATION AND FILING

Section 3.01 Pre-Preliminary Plat:

The purpose of the pre-preliminary plat is to provide the proprietor with an opportunity to avail himself of the advice and assistance of the Planning Commission, Township Board, Township Engineer, Township Planner and other agencies involved in subdividing, prior to preparing a preliminary plat and its submission for approval.

Prior to the preparation and filing of a preliminary plat, the proprietor may meet informally with the Planning Commission or their representatives in order that he may become familiar with this Ordinance and with the proposals of the Comprehensive Plan as they affect the area in which his proposed subdivision is located. The proprietor should concern himself with the following factors:

a. The area of the proposed subdivision should be properly zoned for the intended use.

b. An investigation of the adequacy of existing schools and public open spaces (including parks and playgrounds) to service the proposed subdivision.

c. The relationship of the proposed subdivision to major streets, adjoining subdivisions, and land uses of surrounding parcels.

d. Standards for sewage disposal, water supply and drainage of the Township and health standards of Wayne County and the State of Michigan.

Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed as to require the submittal of a Pre-Preliminary Plat. Review at this stage shall not constitute any approval of a proposed preliminary plat subsequently submitted, but shall serve primarily as guidance to the prospective proprietor. Any proprietor may elect to begin subdividing by submitting a preliminary plat in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

ARTICLE 4.00

DESIGN STANDARDS FOR SUBDIVISION PLANNING

The following design standards are intended as a guide to sound land planning and are the minimum standards for subdivision development in the Township. It shall be the policy of the Township to require that all existing features which would add value to a residential development or to the Township as a whole, such as trees, watercourses, historic sites, and similar irreplaceable assets, shall be preserved in the design of the subdivision. No trees shall be removed from any subdivision nor any change or grade of the land effected until final approval of the preliminary plat. All trees and natural assets on the plat required to be retained shall be preserved, and all trees to be retained shall be welled and protected against change of grade.

Section 4.01 Streets and Alleys:

The specifications herein set forth are to be the standards adopted for the width and location of all highways, streets, and alleys which may hereafter be platted or accepted within the Township.

a. Access to Major Streets. Where a subdivision borders on or contains an existing or proposed major street, the Planning Commission may require that access to such streets be limited by one of the following means:

(1) The subdivision of lots so as to back onto the major street and front onto a parallel local street; no access shall be provided from the primary arterial, and screening shall be provided in a ten (10) foot strip of land along the rear property line of such lots.

(2) A series of cul-de-sacs, U-shaped streets, or short loops entered from and designed generally at right angles to a parallel local street, with the rear lines of their terminal lots backing onto the major street.

(3) A marginal access or service road.

b. Alignment, Curvature, Right-of-way Width, and Grades. In accordance with adopted standards and construction requirements of the Wayne County Road Commission.

c. Alleys. Alleys shall not be permitted in residential areas, but may be permitted or required in commercial or industrial areas for the purpose of service access, such as for off-street parking and loading. Where provided, alleys shall have a minimum right-of-way width of twenty-six (26) feet.

d. Cul-de-sacs. Maximum length for residential cul-de-sacs shall not exceed seven (7) times the minimum lot width of the subdivision and shall terminate in a circle one hundred and twenty (120') feet in diameter. Maximum length of commercial and industrial cul-de-sac streets shall not exceed one thousand (1,000') feet and shall terminate in a circle one hundred and fifty (150') feet in diameter.

e. Dead-End or Stub Streets. When adjoining areas are undeveloped, the arrangement of certain streets in new subdivisions shall be extended to the boundary line of the tract to make provision for the future projection of streets into the adjoining areas. A one-foot public reserve may be required to be placed between stub streets and subdivision boundaries. These reserves shall be deeded in fee simple to the Wayne County Road Commission for future street purposes. Stub streets shall not exceed in length, the depth of a typical lot in the subdivision.

f. Frontage on Improved Roads. No subdivision shall be approved unless the area to be subdivided shall have frontage on and at least two access streets from an existing street that has been publicly dedicated and accepted for maintenance by the Wayne County Road Commission.

This requirement shall not include plats composed of a single street subdivision not exceeding six hundred (600) feet in length and terminating with a turning circle, commonly referred to as a cul-de-sac street.

Wherever the area to be subdivided is to utilize existing street frontage, such existing street shall be suitably improved to at least local street standards.

g. Half Streets. Half streets shall not be permitted. Wherever there already exists a dedicated and recorded half-street or half-alley on an adjoining plat, and such half-street or half-alley cannot be vacated, the other half shall be improved and dedicated to make the street or alley complete.

h. Intersections.

(1) Streets shall be laid out so as to intersect as nearly as possible at right angles. A proposed intersection of two (2) streets at an angle of less than seventy-five (75) degrees shall not be acceptable. An oblique street should be curved approaching an intersection and should be approximately at right angles for at least one hundred (100) feet therefrom. Not more than two (2) streets shall intersect at any one point.

(2) Proposed new intersections along one side of an existing street shall, wherever practicable, coincide with any existing intersections on the opposite side of such street. Street jogs with centerline offsets of less than 150 feet shall not be permitted. Where streets intersect major streets, their alignment shall be continuous. Intersections with major streets from the same subdivision shall be at least three hundred (300) feet apart.

(3) Where any street intersection will involve earth banks or existing vegetation inside any lot corner that would create a traffic hazard by limiting visibility, the developer shall cut such ground and/or vegetation (including trees) in connection with the grading of the public right-of-way to the extent deemed necessary to provide an adequate sight distance.

i. Layout.

(1) Streets shall be related appropriately to the topography. Local streets shall be curved wherever possible to avoid conformity of lot appearance. All streets shall be arranged so as to obtain as many as possible of the building sites at, or above, the grades of the streets. Grades shall conform as closely as possible to the original topography.

(2) All streets shall be properly integrated with the existing and proposed system of thoroughfares and dedicated right-of-way as established on the Wayne County Master Right-of-way Plan.

(3) Minor or local streets shall be laid out to conform as much as possible to the topography, to discourage use by through traffic, to permit efficient drainage and utility systems, and to require the minimum number of streets necessary to provide convenient and safe access to property.

(4) The rigid rectangular gridiron street pattern will not be encouraged, and the use of curvilinear streets, cul-de-sacs, or U-shaped streets shall be required where such use will result in a more desirable layout.

(5) The layout of proposed streets shall provide for the continuation of existing streets in surrounding areas and in general, such streets shall be of width as great as that of the street so extended.

(6) In commercial and industrial development, the streets shall be planned in connection with the grouping of buildings, location of rail facilities, and the provision of alleys, truck loading and maneuvering areas, and walks and parking areas so as to minimize conflict of movement between the various types of traffic, including pedestrian.

j. Private Streets and Alleys. Private streets and alleys shall not be permitted, but rather all streets and alleys shall be dedicated to the public.

k. Street Names. Street names shall be sufficiently different in sound and spelling so as to not cause confusion for purposes of assessing, mail delivery, public safety, or locating by the public with names of existing streets in or near the Township. Streets that will be continuations of existing streets shall bear the same names of such existing streets.

Section 4.02 Utility and Drainage Easements:

a. Drainage easements shall be provided, which conform substantially with the lines of any natural watercourse, drainage ditch, channel or stream and the requirements of the Wayne County Drain Commission and/or the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Such easements shall be of adequate width for the particular conditions of the site.

(1) The Township Board may require that the drain: be fully enclosed, if it lies within a public right-of-way and is considered necessary for the proper development of the subdivision and circulation of Local traffic, the paving of the bottom of open drainage channels if the Township Engineer determines that the cost of long term maintenance can be minimized with this improvement.

b. Except where alleys are provided for the purpose, a private utility easement, not less than twelve (12') feet in width, with six (6') feet located on each side of the property line, shall be provided along rear or side lot line. Utility easements six (6') feet in width are permissible along rear property lines, in cases where such rear property lines abut unplatted land.

Section 4.03 Lots:

The size, shape and orientation of lots shall be appropriate for the location of the subdivision and for the type of development and use contemplated. Lots shall be of such size as to permit a variety of housing types, to provide side yards for desirable access, light, air, privacy, and safety from fire hazards, and to provide for setbacks from the street line and allow sufficient space for household purposes.

a. Area. The area, depth, and width, and the depth to width ratio of lots shall be in accordance with the minimum Zoning Ordinance requirements for the district in which the proposed plat is to be located. In meeting this requirement the area of streets, alleys, easements (other than the easement required in Section 4.02, b), submerged lands, streams, or areas subject to flooding shall not be counted.

c. Corner Lot. Corner lots in all plats shall be provided with an additional fifteen (15') feet or greater width to permit the maintenance of the minimum front building setback lines on both the front and side street lines.

c. Depth. No lot in a residential subdivision shall be less than one hundred twenty (120') feet in depth nor exceed a depth to width ratio of 2½ to 1. In the case of railroad rights-of-way where so located as to abut a proposed subdivision, the adjoining lands shall be treated as follows:

(1) In residential districts a buffer strip at least 25 feet in depth in addition to the normal depth of the lot required in the district shall be provided adjacent to the railroad right-of-way. This strip shall be part of the platted lots and shall be designated on the plat: "This strip is reserved for screening. The placement of any structure hereon is prohibited."

(2) In districts zoned for commercial, or industrial uses the nearest street extending parallel or approximately parallel to the railroad shall, wherever practicable, be at least two hundred (200) feet distant therefrom to ensure suitable depth for commercial or industrial sites.

d. Double Frontage and Access to Lots. The full frontage of all lots shall abut upon a dedicated public street. Double frontage and reversed frontage lots shall be avoided except where necessary to provide separation of residential development from major streets or to overcome specific disadvantages of topography and orientation.

e. Land Subject to Flooding. Any areas of land within the proposed subdivision which are subject to flooding or inundation by the storm water of a one hundred (100) year flood shall be clearly shown on the Final Plat. Such land shall not be platted for residential occupancy nor for such other uses as may increase danger to health, life or property, or unduly aggravate the flood hazard.

f. Lot Drainage. Lots shall be laid out so as to provide positive drainage away from all buildings and individual lot drainage shall be coordinated with the general storm drainage pattern for the area. Drainage shall be designed so as to avoid concentration of storm drainage water from each lot to adjacent lots.

g. Side Lot Lines: Side property lines of lots shall generally be perpendicular or radial to street lines except where, in the opinion of the Township Board, a better lotting plan can be achieved. Side and rear property lines should be generally straight.

Section 4.04 Blocks:

The size and shape of blocks shall be appropriate for the type of lots and land use proposed. Blocks shall be designed so as to permit good lot orientation, safe street design and economical use of the land.

a. Maximum Length. Maximum length of blocks, measured between intersecting street centerlines, shall not exceed thirteen hundred and twenty (1,320') feet. This maximum may be exceeded where lot sizes are greater than 20,000 square feet in area and 100 feet in width except that in no case, however, may the maximum block length exceed twenty (20) times the minimum lot width in the subdivision.

b. Minimum Length. Minimum block length, measured as above, shall not be less than five hundred (500') feet.

c. Width.

(1) Blocks shall have sufficient width to provide for two (2) tiers of lots of appropriate depths. Exceptions to this prescribed block width shall be permitted in blocks adjacent to major streets, railroads, drainage courses, or adjoining undeveloped land.

d. Pedestrianways. Rights-of-way for pedestrian crosswalks may be required at the discretion of the Planning Commission, through blocks exceeding eight hundred (800) feet in length and according to the following:

(1) The right-of-way shall be at least fifteen (15) feet wide and extend entirely through the block.

(2) The crosswalk shall be provided with a concrete sidewalk five (5) feet in width centered in the right-of-way; the balance of the right-of-way shall be seeded or sodded; and a four (4) foot high chain link fence shall be erected along each adjoining lot line.

Section 4.05 Nonresidential Subdivisions:

a. General. If a proposed subdivision includes land that is zoned for commercial or industrial purposes, the layout of the subdivision with respect to such land shall make such provision as the Planning Commission may require.

A nonresidential subdivision shall be subject to all the requirements of these regulations, as well as such reasonable additional standards required by the Planning Commission, and shall conform to the proposed land use and standards established in the Master Plan, and Zoning Ordinance.

b. Standards. In addition to the principles and standards in these regulations, which are appropriate to the planning of all subdivisions, the proprietor shall demonstrate that the street, parcel, and block pattern proposed is specifically adapted to the uses anticipated and takes into account other uses in the vicinity. The following principles and standards shall be observed:

(1) Proposed industrial parcels shall be suitable in area and dimensions to the types of industrial development anticipated, off-street parking and loading-unloading requirements of the zoning ordinance.

(2) Street rights-of-way and pavement shall be adequate to accommodate the type and volume of traffic anticipated to be generated thereupon.

(3) Special requirements may be imposed by the Township Board with respect to street, curb, gutter, and sidewalk design and construction.

(4) Special requirements may be imposed by the Township Board with respect to the installation of public utilities, including water, sewer and storm water drainage.

(5) Every effort shall be made to protect adjacent residential areas from potential nuisance from a proposed commercial or industrial subdivision, including the provision of extra depth in parcels backing up on existing or potential residential development and provisions for a permanently landscaped buffer strip when necessary.

(6) Streets carrying nonresidential traffic, especially truck traffic, shall not be extended to the boundaries of adjacent existing or potential residential areas.

ARTICLE 5.00 REQUIRED IMPROVEMENTS

Section 5.01 Required Financial Guarantee Arrangements:

In lieu of the actual installation of required public improvements, the Township Board may permit the subdivider to provide a financial guarantee of performance in one or a combination of the following arrangements for those requirements which are over and beyond the requirements of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Wayne County Drain Commissioner or any other agency responsible for the administration, operation and maintenance of the applicable public improvements. The Planning Commission may recommend and the Township Board may waive financial guarantees of performance under this Ordinance for sidewalks, street lights, or street trees. In case these improvements are specified, completion shall be required prior to the issuance of housing occupancy permits.

a. Performance or Surety Bond.

(1) Accrual. The bond shall accrue to the Township, covering construction, operation and maintenance of the specific public improvements.

(2) Amount. The bond shall be in an amount equal to the total estimated cost for completing construction of the specific public improvement, including contingencies, as estimated by the Township Board.

(3) Term Length. The term length in which the bond is in force shall be for a period to be specified by the Township Board for the specific public improvement.

(4) Bonding or Surety Company. The bond shall be with a surety company authorized to do business in the State of Michigan, acceptable to the Township Board.

(5) The escrow agreement shall be drawn and furnished by the Township Board.

b. Cash Deposit, Certified Check, Negotiable Bond, or Irrevocable Bank Letter of Credit.

(1) Treasurer, Escrow Agent or Trust Company. A cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, or an irrevocable bank letter of credit, such surety acceptable by the Township Board, shall accrue to the Township. These deposits shall be made with the Township Treasurer, or deposited with a responsible escrow agent, or trust company, subject to the approval of the Township Board.

(2) Dollar Value. The dollar value of the cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, or an irrevocable bank letter of credit, shall be equal to one hundred and ten (110 percent) percent of the specific public improvement as recommended by the Township Engineer.

(3) Escrow Time. The escrow time for the cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, or irrevocable bank letter of credit, shall be for a period to be specified by the Township Board.

(4) Progressive Payment. In the case of cash deposits or certified checks, an agreement between the Township and the subdivider may provide for progressive payment out of the cash deposit or reduction of the certified check, negotiable bond or irrevocable bank letter of credit, to the extent of the cost of the completed portion of the public improvement, in accordance with a previously entered into agreement.

Section 5.02 Conditions of Approval:

The approval of all final subdivision plats shall be conditioned on the accomplishment of one of the following:

a. The construction of improvements required by this Ordinance shall have been completed by the subdivider and approved by the Township Board.

b. Surety acceptable to the Township shall have been filed in the form of a cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, irrevocable bank letter of credit or surety bond.

(1) Special Agreements. A special agreement shall be entered into between the subdivider and the Township Board where street trees and street lights have been required by the Township Board.

(2) Inspection of Public Improvements Under Construction. Before approving a final plat and construction plans and specifications for public improvements, and lot drainage plans, and agreement between the subdivider and the Township Board shall be made to provide for checking or inspecting the construction and its conformity to the submitted plan.

(3) Penalty in Case of Failure to Complete the Construction of a Public Improvement. In the event the subdivider shall, in any case, fail to complete such work within such period of time as required by the conditions of the guarantee for the completion of public improvements, it shall be the responsibility of the Township Board to proceed to have such work completed. In order to accomplish this, the Township Board shall reimburse itself for the cost and expense thereof by appropriating the cash deposit, certified check, irrevocable bank letter of credit, negotiable bond which the subdivider may have deposited in lieu of a surety bond, or may take such steps as may be necessary to require performance by the bonding or surety company, and as included in a written agreement between the Township Board and the Subdivider.

Section 5.03 Utilities and Improvements:

The improvements set forth under this Section are to be considered as the minimum acceptable standard. Those improvements for which standards are not specifically set forth shall be established by the Township Board with assistance from the Township Engineer. The current standards and requirements of the Wayne County Road Commission, Michigan Health Department and Michigan Department of Natural Resources shall also apply.

a. Street and Alley Pavement. All street and alley improvements shall be provided by the proprietor in accordance with standards and specifications of the Wayne County Road Commission.

b. Storm Drainage. All streets shall have adequate storm drainage in accordance with standards and specifications prescribed by the Wayne County Road Commission and/or Drain Commission. Where County drains are included in the proposed plat a letter or document of approval shall be submitted by the proprietor from the Wayne County Drain Commissioner.

c. Sanitary Sewerage System. A public sanitary sewer system shall be constructed and the sewer size, type grade and other appurtenances of the system shall be constructed in conformance with the standards and specifications prescribed by the Township Engineer, Wayne County Road Commission's Department of Public Works and Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

d. Water System. A public water supply system shall be required and water mains, fire hydrants and necessary water system appurtenances shall be constructed in such a manner as to adequately serve all lots shown on the plat both for domestic use and fire protection. Standards and specifications shall be prescribed by the Township Engineer, City of Detroit Water Board, and Michigan Department of Health.

e. Curbs and Gutters. Curbs shall be constructed on all streets shown on the plat in accordance with standards and specifications of the Wayne County Road Commission including accommodation ramps for the handicapped.

f. Sidewalks. Concrete sidewalks shall be constructed along both sides of all streets shown on the plat including major and collector streets. Where the minimum width of lots, as measured at the building setback line, is one hundred (100') feet or greater, sidewalks shall not be required, nor shall sidewalks be required along industrial streets. Sidewalks where constructed shall be five (5') feet in width and shall be placed one (1') foot off the property line and constructed in accordance with standards and specifications prescribed by the Township Engineer.

g. Trees. Balled and burlapped street trees shall be planted between curb and sidewalk in accordance with the following schedule for all residential lots:

(1) Lots with street frontage of seventy (70') feet or less shall have a minimum of one (1) tree.

(2) Lots with street frontage greater than seventy (70') feet but less than one hundred (100') feet shall have a minimum of two (2) trees per lot. Lots one hundred (100') feet in width or larger shall have one tree planted for every fifty (50') feet of frontage.

(3) Minimum tree size shall be at least one and a half to two (1½" to 2") inches in diameter as measured twelve (12") inches above the ground.

The selection of variety, spacing and planting of all trees shall be done in accordance with standards and specifications adopted by the Township Board.

(4) Trees shall be replaced if they are not in a healthy growing condition after one growing season. Existing features which would add value to a residential development or to the Township as a whole, such as trees, watercourses, historic sites, and similar irreplaceable assets, shall be preserved in the design of the subdivision. No trees shall be removed from any subdivision nor any change in grade of the land affected until final approval of the preliminary plat. All trees and natural assets on the plat required to be retained shall be preserved, and all trees to be retained shall be welled and protected against change of grade. The preliminary plat shall show the number, type, and location of existing trees and shall further indicate all those marked for retention, and the location of all proposed shade trees required along the street side of each lot as required by these regulations.

h. Street Signs. For the proper identification of streets, the proprietor shall provide and erect street signs and traffic control signs meeting and standards of the Wayne County Road Commission and Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

i. Street Lighting. Street lights shall be required to be installed at intersections and at other locations deemed necessary by the Township Board throughout the subdivision. The subdivider shall conform to the lighting standards and requirements of the Township Engineer and the Detroit Edison Company providing such lighting.

j. Fencing. Each subdivider and/or developer shall be required to furnish and install fences wherever the Planning Commission determines that hazardous condition may exist. The fences shall be constructed according to standards established by the Township Engineer and shall be noted as to height and material on the final plat. No certificate of occupancy shall be issued until said fence improvements have been duly installed.

k. Underground Wiring. The proprietor shall make arrangements for all lines for telephone, electric, television and other similar services distributed by wire or cable to be placed underground entirely throughout a subdivided area (including major street rights-of-way, unless other arrangements are made between the Utility Company and the Township Board) and such conduits or cables shall be placed within private easements provided to such service companies by the developer or within dedicated public ways. All such facilities placed in dedicated public easements shall be planned so as not to conflict with other underground utilities. All such facilities shall be constructed in accordance with standards of construction approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. Underground utility installations which traverse privately owned property shall be protected by easements granted by the proprietor.

Section 5.04 Completion and Acceptance for Maintenance:

a. Certification by the Developer's Engineer. The proprietor's Engineer shall furnish the supervising County agencies and/or Township Board a letter or document indicating satisfactory completion of the required improvements.

b. Inspection by the Proprietor's Engineer and the Township Engineer. After the completion of the construction of the streets and other related facilities, the supervising County agency and Township Engineer will conduct a final inspection. This inspection shall be made in conjunction with the proprietor's Engineer to assure the subdivision is completed according to the approved plans and specifications.

c. Partial Acceptance. In no case will a partial acceptance of any street in the subdivision be made for maintenance.

Section 5.05 Soil Preservation, Grading, and Seeding:

a. Soil Preservation and Final Grading. No final certificate of occupancy shall be issued until final grading has been completed in accordance with the approved final grading plan and the lot recovered with soil which shall contain no particles over two (2) inches in diameter over the entire area of the lot, except that portion covered by buildings, paved areas, streets, or where the grade has not been changed or natural vegetation seriously damaged. Topsoil shall not be removed from residential lots or used as spoil, but shall be redistributed so as to provide at least four (4) inches of cover on the lots and between the sidewalks and curbs, and shall be stabilized by seeding or sodding.

b. Lawn-Grass Seed and Sod. Lawn-grass seed shall be sown at not less than four (4) pounds to each one thousand (1,000) square feet of land area. In the spring, the seed shall be sown between March 15 and May 15; and in the fall, the seed shall be sown between August 15 and September 30. The seed shall consist of a maximum of ten percent (10 percent) rye grass by weight and a minimum of ninety percent (90 percent) of permanent bluegrass and/or fescue grass by weight. All seed shall have been tested for germination within one (1) year of the date of seeding, and the date of testing shall be on the label containing the seed analysis. All lots shall be seeded from the roadside edge of the unpaved, right-of-way back to a distance of twenty-five (25) feet behind the principal residence on the lot. No final certificate of occupancy shall be issued until resodding of soil and seeding of lawn has been completed; except that between October 1 and March 15, and between May 15 and August 15, the applicant shall submit an agreement in writing signed by the developer and the property owner, with a copy to the Chief Building Official, that resodding of soil and seeding of lawn will be done during the immediate following planting season as set forth in this section, and leave a cash escrow for performance in such amount as shall be determined by the Township Treasurer. Sod may be used to comply with any requirement of seeding set forth herein.

c. Debris and Waste. No cut trees, timber, debris, earth, rocks, stones, soil, junk, rubbish, or other waste materials of any kind shall be buried in any land, or left or deposited on any lot or street at the time of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy, and removal of same shall be required prior to issuance of any certificate of occupancy on a subdivision. Nor shall any be left or deposited in any area of the subdivision at the time of dedication of public improvements.

ARTICLE 6.00 PUBLIC RESERVATIONS

Section 6.01 Public Sites and Open Spaces:

a. Where a site for a park, playground, school, library, fire station or other public use is deemed necessary by the Planning Commission to fulfill its objectives, the Township Board may require the reservation of such areas within the subdivision.

(1) Upon determination by the respective public agency that space for the public facility is required, the agency involved shall within ninety (90) days of final approval of the preliminary plat enter into an agreement to purchase the site.

(2) Acquisition of the site shall be accomplished within three (3) years.

b. Reservation of other public open spaces may be required where deemed necessary by the Planning Commission and the Township Board for preservation of historic sites and scenic areas or for a particular type of development proposed in the subdivision.

c. Dedication of greenbelts or buffer parks may be required by the Planning Commission and Township Board in areas where they are desirable to separate and protect residential subdivisions from adjacent commercial developments, highways, streets and railroads or any obnoxious use.

ARTICLE 7.00 FEES, CHARGES AND DEPOSITS

Section 7.01 Preliminary Plat Fees:

At the time of the submission of the preliminary plat, and as a prerequisite to any consideration or review thereof by the Township, the proprietor shall pay a review fee with the Township Treasurer, such fee to be established by resolution of the Township Board.

Section 7.02 Final Plat Fees:

At the time of the final plat, the proprietor shall pay to the Township Treasurer, fees computed as follows:

a. A fee of $20.00 as provided in Section 241 of Act 288, Public Acts of Michigan of 1967, or such other amount as may hereafter be provided by statute; and

b. Such fees and charges for water and sewage connections, inspection fees, fee for special meetings of governmental agencies, engineering fees for field work on site, and other official fees and charges as may be established by ordinance or resolution; and

c. Such fees, charges or deposits as may be required pursuant to Section 125, 182, 188, or 192 of Act 288, Public Acts of Michigan of 1967.

Unbeaten Wayne to test Portage

Zebras defense remain perfect for 2nd week

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports editor

With two victories stashed away, Wayne Memorial will get a look on how they play football out-state when Portage Northern invades the Zebras stadium Friday night.

Coach Floyd Carter's troops destroyed Southgate 20-0 before a home crowd Friday night for their second consecutive shutout of the campaign.

"Our defense is coming around," Carter commented after the triumph over Southgate. "We did make some mistakes, but we can't afford to against Portage and hope to win."

Portage will bring a 1-1 over-all record to Wayne, having beaten a highly-regarded Albion 12-7 but losing to Holland 19-2.

Not too fast

With an Ann Arbor Huron defender's arm clinging to his waist, Livonia Churchill runningback Tim Raymond (34) tries for every inch of yardage on this attempt. Raymond and his teammates played the role of "Dr. Jekyll and Hyde" as they blew a 13 point first half lead and succumbed 28-13 to their nonleague rivals.

Six-point landing

You've heard of the 3-point landing, well the one above is a six-pointer by Livonia Churchill's Doran Mason who leaped into the Ann Arbor Huron end zone Friday for a touchdown in the second quarter. At this point, everything was coming up roses for Coach Ken Kaestner's chiefs, however, a disastrous second half led to Livonian's downfall and their second nonleague loss of the campaign. Churchill heads for Plymouth Canton Friday night to launch the Western Six Conference season.

Glenn bounces back

Limiting Northville to a mere 26 offensive plays, Westland John Glenn bounced back from an image-shattering loss last week at the hands of Allen Park to win a 10-0 nonleague football victory for its first year head coach Chuck Gordon.

The Westlanders cashed in on a one-yard touchdown plunge by Tim Ruark in the second quarter and a 26-yard field goal by Kal Delucia in the fourth to beat back the Colts.

"I feel that the key to the victory was the way we controlled the game," Gordon said. "We had possession of the ball most of the game and ran off 59 offensive plays to their 26 — that definitely was the difference."

Paul Svabik set up Glenn's only touchdown on the game as he stopped Northville on the Westland 15-yard line with an interception, then quarterback Bill Lee guided an 18-play, 85-yard drive which ended with Ruark's TD.

One key play in the series was a 23-yard pass from Lee to Andy Pucci.

Delucia, younger brother of former All-Area gridder, Todd, is following in his brother's footsteps. Todd also was noted for his excellent punting and accuracy at field goal attempts, especially when under pressure.

Ruark finished the night with 75 of the 148 yards compiled by Rocket ballcarriers. Ruark had 29 opportunities.

Gordon singled out his linebacker corps of Svabik and Jerry Cook, along with Burns and Greg Totulski as having an exceptionally fine game on defense.

"However, our defense didn't see much work because we kept the ball out of Northville's hands," Gordon pointed out. "And, let me add that I was really pleased with our offensive line — it really came off the ball well."

Grand Rapids Union is next for the Westlanders who will play host to the out-state team Friday night at 8 p.m.

Gordon scouted his rivals last week and came with the impression, "That they will be by far the quickest team we will play this season."

"Grand Rapids Union lost to a city rival, Creston, 7-0, Saturday night during a downpour of rain," Gordon noted. "believe me, they're good and we're going to have to be ready for them. I'm expecting one heck of a game."

in the third quarter when he returned a punt 29-yards to the Wayne 36-yard line where Turbeville broke loose from scrimmage and scampered 66-yards for the Zebras' final score of the evening.

Turbeville polished off 90-yards to the Wayne 36-yard line where Turbeville broke loose from

2nd half 'kills' Churchill

"We played a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde game."

Those were the words that Livonia Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner used to describe the Chargers' erratic performance Friday against Ann Arbor Huron.

And the facts would back up the veteran Churchill coach.

Ahead 13-0 most of the first half, Churchill blew that lead and played an inept second half to lose a 28-13 decision to the visitors.

It was the second straight loss for the Livonians who will meet Plymouth Canton Friday night in the Western Six Conference opener for both teams.

"What else can I say," Kaestner continued, "what started out as a pleasant experience against Huron turned out to be a very sad one."

"The best way for me to describe it was that we were the good guy, Dr. Jekyll, in the first half, and turned into the bad guy, Mr. Hyde, in the second."

Churchill got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter when quarterback Ron Nutter put the finishing touches on a 35-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge. That was set up by a short Huron punt.

Chris Clegg booted the extra points, giving the host a 7-0 lead.

Churchill increased the margin by six points midway in the second quarter thanks to a three-yard off tackle lunge by running back Doran Mason.

Huron came back and scored on the last play of the initial half, then went on to dominate the next two quarters.

What about Canton?
"They're a good football team, believe me," Kaestner stressed. "We have to be prepared for them or we're in trouble."

Both Churchill and Canton will go into the 8 p.m. league opener looking for their first win of the season.

The Sports Meridian

A sad testimony of our times

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The young man stood tall.

He walked toward the microphone and he paused before he addressed the board.

"I'm asking you not only for myself but for my teammates as well, please restore sports. It is very important to us, to all of us in this community."

"It is dividing us and it will be your responsibility to answer for what happens."

One could hear a pin drop as the young athlete talked, pleaded.

The listeners were members of the Romulus Board of Education, its superintendent of schools and a crowd of more than 800 concerned citizens who had come for some answers.

"I have been a Romulus student for 12 years," the lad continued, "and I am in my senior year. Some of my fellow students have transferred to neighboring communities in order to compete in sports."

"I know," the young athlete continued, "if you restore athletics to our school district these people will come back."

It is indeed a sad testimonial for our times when our children must beg for an all-around education. And what happened in that auditorium in Romulus last week is reoccurring throughout the area, state and country as more and more voters reject millages that would increase their taxes.

The athlete continued to relate to the board how he had worked long summer hours to keep his body and mind in shape and was hoping, somehow, that the board and the coaches would find some solution to keep athletics in the district.

The board has argued that it needs money to finance these programs and no one is going to argue that point. Over a span of 18 months, Romulus has asked its voters five times to approve an 8.5 mill levy, ($8.50 per $1,000 in assessed property valuation) and five times the voters have replied, "no".

Last year Romulus managed to field teams thanks to its coaching and student body which combined its capitalistic talents to raise enough funds for varsity athletics.

This year, however, the coaches as well as the board have refused to consider the plan. The prevailing argument apparently is, "If the people of the community don't want to support the schools, why should we go out of our way for them?"

The confrontation is slowly moving from the verbal to the slander point and I personally wouldn't be surprised to see fists fly soon.

We don't know how this will all end, but let's hope for a quick end.

And here's a letter from one of our readers.

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

I would like to congratulate you and your staff on the Football Special. It was a nice bit of work and I know fans in the area really enjoyed reading it.

I would also like to know on what basis did Tim Brown picked Allen Park to beat John Glenn? Nowhere and nowhere could anyone in his right mind take Allen Park on the facts presented.

Sincerely,
Jim Thompson

Dear Mr. Thompson,
Tim Brown lives in Allen Park.

Raymond wins golf tourney title

Despite inclement weather and wet grounds, some 35 area golfers braved the elements to compete in the inaugural Lemontree Medal Play Golf Tournament held over the weekend.

And former Belleville High golfer, Tim Raymond shot a two-round total 156, one stroke better than Richard Arb to capture first place in the championship flight.

Raymond, having problems with his putts because of the soggy greens, carded a 79 the first day, then turned in a 77 for the finals.

Arb, who carded a two-over par 74 and had the lead going into the second round, suffered through a dismal 18 holes in the finals, taking 83 for the day.

Two strokes back were Rick Muse and Terry Bielecki whose 159s earned for them third place plaques.

Gary Beer walked off with the top plaque for the first flight and he put together rounds of 87 and 81 for a 168 total, beating his closest rivals, Mike Dye, Bill Valentine and Don Michalski who were jammed in the runners-up slot with 170s.

Meanwhile, in the second flight Colin Pelka enjoyed a six-stroke victory over Stosh Michalski. The winner carded a 182.

Here are the results of the inaugural Lemontree Medal Play Golf Invitational:

Belleville awaits Salem

Tigers fail to score again

Failing to get on the scoreboard for the second consecutive week, Belleville dropped its Suburban 8 Conference football opener 29-0 at Dearborn Edsel Ford Friday afternoon. And now Coach Pat Stokes will have to worry about an undefeated

Plymouth Salem which invades Belleville Friday at 8 p.m. "We have played pretty well with Salem teams in the past," commented Coach Stokes, "and I expect this team will do likewise."

"When you lose 20 starters to graduation as we did, it is going to take time for your players to mature but let me say this, this team hasn't quit. It has made some costly mistakes that we're correcting."

Edsel Ford, the defending league co-champs, cashed in on five Belleville turnovers — four fumbles and an interception to jump from a 7-0 first quarter to a 20-0 halftime margin. The T-Birds got a 2-point safety in the third and a touchdown in the fourth to claim their first victory in two starts.

With running back Kelvin Patterson at the throttle, Belleville marched the opening kickoff from its 30-yard line to the Edsel 16 where an errant pitchout cost them possession of the ball and ended their first serious touchdown threat.

Edsel Ford turned right around and moved to the Tiger 23 from where quarterback Tim Kososki scored the first of four T-Bird TDs. Charlie Arvai kicked the extra point and the hosts had a 7-0 lead.

After the ensuing kickoff, Belleville launched its second drive of the first quarter from its own 28-yard line and quarterback Larry Pingston managed to pick up two first downs thanks to thrust by Patterson who got the team to midfield.

But a 15-yard clipping penalty shoved the Tigers back and they eventually had to punt.

After an exchange of punts, Belleville gave up 30 yards in penalties on one play which led to another T-Bird score. A clipping penalty against the Tigers and an untimely and costly remark to an official after the call put Belleville back on its own 15 yard line with Edsel in possession of the ball.

A pass from Kososki to Darnell Snowden gave the T-Birds their second TD. Arvai then made good on his second of three point-after.

Edsel capitalized on another Belleville miscue two plays after the kickoff and took over on the Tiger 28-yard line. Four plays later Jamie Benis scored from the seven and the T-Birds elected to go for the 2-point conversion and failed.

Comfortably ahead at halftime 20-0, the total yardage picture was blurred and deceptive — Belleville had rushed for 88 while the T-Birds for 120-yards the first two periods.

"I felt we executed our plays well," Stokes said, "and we played well the first half but everytime we had something going, we fumbled our chances away."

"You can't fumble six times and lost four of them and give up a pass interception and 80-yards in penalties and expect to beat a team like Edsel."

Edsel picked up 15 first downs to the Tigers' seven and hit on seven of 12 passes while Pingston connected on one of four aeriels for 11 yards. The T-Birds rushed for 250 and compiled 88 from their aerial attack for a total of 336 yards as compared to 118 and 11 for 129 Belleville yards.

Patterson was the top Tiger ballcarrier for the second week in a row as he had 14 rushes for 91 yards. Herbert Burrus had 12 attempts and gained 34 yards while Pingston was credited with 76 yards in nine tries.

Now what?

The wrinkled and worried face of Livonia Churchill head football coach Ken Kaestner tells most of the story about what isn't going on at the gridiron. The Charger mentor, who has linebacker Chris Cleff for an audience, apparently isn't satisfied with the game plan and there was little he or his charges could do against a visiting Ann Arbor Huron team than handed the Livonians their second loss of the season, 28-13.

Belleville runners win Green Hill title

With Bob Oakley setting the pace, Belleville High runners captured the inaugural Green Hill Cross Country Invitational held on the Concordia College course Saturday.

Oakley was clocked in the second best time of the meet, turning in a 17:04 for Coach Dave Medley's championship team. He trailed an Ann Arbor runner across the finish line. The winning time was 16:56.

Belleville also placed fourth with Mark Sienko, eighth with Darryl Thompson, while Gary Roach and Jeff Locke wound up 10th and 11th respectively.

The Tigers received a 12th place finish from Joe Poole.

Belleville compiled 31 points to emerge as the top team in the Class A Division. Grand Ledge was runner-up with 50, followed by Ann Arbor Huron (51), Ann Arbor Pioneer (108) and Ypsilanti (120).

"It was a very satisfying victory," Medley noted. "I feel we're shaping up just fine."

After meeting Monroe Tuesday afternoon, the Tigers have a weekend off and will return to action this Tuesday against Melvindale. Both are home meets.

It will also give injured Steve Medvecz an opportunity to get back into shape. Medvecz, one of the Tigers' top runners, has been sidelined with a leg hurt.

Glenn runners nipped at wire by GC East

When it comes to cross country meets between Westland John Glenn and Garden City East, a year hasn't changed a thing.

Last year the Westlanders launched the Northwest Suburban Conference campaign on the long end, which in cross country jargon means losing end, of a 29-30 score.

And last week the two co-champs in the Northwest Suburban resumed their acquaintance and guess what? The same score popped up again and East was the winner.

"A year hasn't changed anything, has it?" Glenn coach Jerry Szukaitis rhetorically asked. "I just hope we can come back and improve to the point where we can beat them at the conference championships."

Glenn's first man to hit the wire was Mark Johnson, who finished fourth with a 16:17 effort. Teammate Jim Barber was fifth while Randy Gabrys, Paul Stephens, Jim Kancierz and Jim Green nailed down the sixth through ninth spots and Tom Andrews was 10th. East's senior runner, Kevin Kitz was the winner. He rounded the 3-mile course in 15:39.

Glenn ran undefeated Wayne Memorial Tuesday afternoon and will head for Detroit Catholic Central to compete in an invitational Saturday.

Meanwhile, Livonia Franklin was sandwiched between Farmington and Redford Union in its initial triangular met of the season. Coach Bob Holmes' Patriots garnered 38 points, finishing behind Farmington (21), but in front of Redford Union (83).

Matt Killinger's 17:11 run for the Patriots produced the fourth best time in the meet while Wally Niemiec and Rob Klinefelter were fifth and sixth, respectively. Dave Dawson and Chuck Jennet were 12th and 13th for the Livonians.

A minor problem

Trying to shake loose from a Schafer defender is Cherry Hill runningback Tom Minor (white jersey) who spearheaded the Spartans' offense against the visitors Saturday during the Tri-River Conference opener for both schools. Cherry Hill snapped an 8-game losing streak at the expense of Schafer and will attempt to win its second straight Friday night against Melvindale, heir-apparent to the throne vacated by Taylor Kennedy. Kennedy is not fielding a team this season because of lack of money.

Sweet victory Spartans squash Schafer

Unleashing its best offense in years, Cherry Hill crushed Southgate Schafer 20-8 before a Parents' Day crowd Saturday to open up the 1977 Tri-River Conference campaign with a "big victory."

The win also snapped an 8-game Cherry Hill losing streak.

"It was an important game for us," said Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski. "It proved to these kids that they can put points on the board. In fact, we had two touchdowns called back on us that would have blown the game open in the first half."

Pawloski's Spartans will have little time to rest on its laurels as they're scheduled to meet undefeated Melvindale Friday night at 7:30. Melvindale is coming off a 43-0 victory over Garden City West.

"I said in the pre-season previews that Melvindale is the team to beat in our league and they sure are holding up to that prediction," Pawloski noted. "They're well-coached, and will be tough to beat — they're hitters."

And if memory hasn't faded, it was Melvindale which provided Cherry Hill with its lone victory a year ago — the Cardinals will be out for revenge.

Cherry Hill got on the scoreboard shortly after the initial kickoff. With quarterback Scott Dawson at the throttle, the Spartans marched 65 yards in their first series of plays from scrimmage and scored on a 7-yard pitchout from Dawson to Darnell Green.

Tom Minor, who did most of the ball-carrying in that series, accounted for the two-point conversion, giving the hosts an 8-0 lead.

The Spartans increased their margin to 14-0 before the half on Floyd Simmons 24-yard touchdown jaunt off tackle. Simmons got through the Schafer defense thanks to a couple of key blocks by John Sweet and Lou Gregory.

Schafer got back into the game in the third quarter when quarterback Kane Wilson combined with Joe Walsh on a 30-yard scoring pass play. The visitors also made good on the two-point conversion to cut into Cherry Hill's lead 14-8.

But the Spartans scored an insurance TD in the fourth quarter on a 56-yard trip play that sprung Simmons up the middle and 56-yards for a touchdown.

Simmons, who rushed for 121 yards on 10 carries, had two other touchdowns called back on him because of clipping penalties. One of those covered 65-yards; the other 40. He also was instrumental on defense where he picked off two interceptions.

Minor also had an excellent game as he accounted for 120 yards on 11 carries, most of those in the first half.

Rick Searcy stood out on defense, getting credit for stopping two Schafer drives by stealing a pair of aeriels while the Spartans' interior defensive line made up of Darrel Gallant, Lou Gregory and Bob Tamm received most of the credit of detouring Schafer's ground game.

"It really feels good to win one," Pawloski added. "I think our team needed this one more than anything else."

Rockets edge Adrian

Looking as if they were in mid-season form, Westland John Glenn eked out a 26-30 victory over a highly-regarded Adrian cross country club last week.

Mark Johnson, who finished second with a 16:41, set the pace for Coach Jerry Szukaitis's Rockets. Glenn's next runner, Jim Barber, was third, while the Westlanders captured sixth, seventh and eighth thanks to Paul Stephens, Tom Andrews and Randy Gabrys, respectively.

Jim Kancierz was 10th for the Rockets. "We ran exceptionally well against them," said Szukaitis who is in his 14th year as head coach. "They really surprised me — I thought we looked in midseason form or at least one month ahead of our schedule."

The Westlanders also finished second at the Early Bird Invitational meet at Lincoln Park, which launched the 1977 season for the Rockets. Fordson's 31 points earned for the Tractors the title.

Glenn was second with 69, followed by Allen Park (106), Annapolis (121), Dearborn St. Alphonsus (126), Riverview (128), Grosse Ile (157) and Lincoln Park (181).

Johnson finished fifth in the field with a 15:54 run. Teammates Stephens was 12th, followed by sophomore Tom Andrews (15), Randy Gabrys (17) and Jim Barber (20).

Glenn met Wayne Memorial Tuesday afternoon on the Zebra course and isn't scheduled to run until Oct. 1 when it travels to Alpena for an invitational which pits some of the better teams in northern Michigan against the Westlanders.

Franklin hangs on and wins, 7-6

Vigna: 'Said to myself, Oh, oh, here we go again'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Though the action, stage and players had been shifted Saturday to another site, the scenario was nearly the same for Livonia Franklin and its loyal entourage of football fans. A week ago, Coach Armand Vigna's Patriots lost a 6-3 thriller to Plymouth Salem.

Saturday, Franklin nearly saw a rerun of its first game, fortunately they hung on and won a squeaker 7-6. Scoreless the first half, Franklin got on the scoreboard in the third quarter on a deflected pass from quarterback Mike Fry who was shooting for Ron Reeter, but the ball was deflected by a Stevenson defender, and it eventually wound up in the welcomed arms of Franklin's Paul Pietrzak who was in the end zone.

Don Boka kicked the extra point which eventually was the difference in the game.

That 6-yard aerial culminated a 40-yard drive engineered by Fry and carried out by fullback Jerry Cifor.

It also ate up six minutes of the quarter.

Stevenson had an excellent chance to tie the game up as a Franklin fumble deep in its territory gave the ball to the Spartans. The hosts ran 12 plays and advanced to the Patriot four where Franklin's defense buckled down thanks to Gordie Wheeler and Pietrzak.

Stevenson came within four yards of a touchdown with Jim Spala's pass reception, but the Spartans failed to get the first down and

The next drive however resulted in a fourth quarter Stevenson touchdown as quarterback Tom Smith combined with Jim Gruend on an 8-yard touchdown pass.

With 28 seconds left in the game, Stevenson elected to go for the two-point conversion and the victory and the pass from Smith-to-Spala was tipped, bobbled and incomplete.

"When they tied that score I said to myself, 'oh, oh, here we go again,'" Vigna said. "Luckily it wasn't in the books for them that day."

The closeness of the game was also reflected in the stats. Stevenson had possession for 39 running and six passing plays while Franklin used 40 of its plays for rushes and 12 for passing. The Spartans had 138 yards on the ground and 46 (6-of-12) in the air as compared to Franklin's 156 yards rushing and two for six passing.

Dan Rochowiak recovered a Stevenson fumble on the second play of the game and Pietrzak also state power this year.

Cifor led the Patriot offense with 108 yards for 18 carries and Fry had 39 in 13 tries. Spala proved to be the top rusher for the losers, amassing 87 yards in 15 carries.

"I just want to say that Stevenson is as tough as we are or Plymouth Salem," Vigna remarked. "Coach Jack Readron probably has the best 0-2 team in this area."

Franklin returns home Saturday to host Garden City East in the Northwest Suburban Conference opener. Both teams carry 1-1 nonleague records into the game.

Hewlett's at helm again

Salem sails past Allen Park

With junior quarterback Rich Hewlett at the throttle, Plymouth Salem unleashed its awesome offensive machine and shattered Allen Park's dream of becoming a Class A state power this year.

Hewlett, sidelined with a concussion sustained on the third play in the opening game at Livonia Franklin, guided the Rocks to a decisive 35-14 victory over the Jaguars who gained state-wide attention a week ago by cutting Westland John Glenn's 13-game winning streak.

And Coach Tom Moshimer's charges managed to humble their Suburban 8 Conference rivals without the services of veteran runningbacks Bob Waite and David Booker who also were hurt in that handicapping opener.

Hewlett scored one touchdown against the Jaguars and passed for a second and personally accounted for 86 of the Rocks' 329 rushing yards. He carried nine times.

Salem got on the board in the first quarter when Doug Rowe capped an 83-yard, five play drive with a four-yard off-tackle scoring slant. Dave Basierbe then kicked his first of three successful point-after.

Early in the second quarter Hewlett worked his way through the Allen Park defenses, going nine yards for his first touchdown of the season. That culminated a six-play, 45-yard drive.

The stunned visitors found themselves struggling again when the Rocks turned a fumble into a three-play, 30-yard drive that ended with 5:04 left in the half and Chris Ritchey scoring his first TD of the year.

The Jaguars came back and cut the lead with their first score but trailed 21-8 at halftime.

Ritchey put the fourth Salem touchdown on the scoreboard early in the third quarter (9:14) as he meandered 69-yards for his longest TD of his career. Then, with 1:32 left in the quarter, Hewlett and Kirk Lewis hooked up on a 35-yard touchdown pass.

The Rocks amassed 329 yards on the ground with Ritchey producing 124 on eight chances.

Salem were penalized eight times for 74 yards and each team fumbled three times and lost the ball once.

Salem will take a 2-0 record into Belleville Friday night and Moshimer expects a tough game with Pat Stokes' Tigers.

"I don't know what it is but Belleville is always ready to play us," Moshimer said. "I know they have lost their first two but that doesn't mean a darn thing."

Bad one Canton stumbles over Annapolis

There is an unwritten, unsubstantiated and undeniable truism in coaching that a coach expects to see his team play at least one "bad game," a season.

Plymouth Canton Coach Dave Schuele hopes that last Friday's disastrous performance by his Chiefs at Dearborn Heights Annapolis was "that one."

Canton bowed to Annapolis 18-6 as the Chiefs failed to find the forces to penetrate the Cougar lines. In fact, Canton helped out by committing 11 — that's right — eleven turnovers.

"Do you know that our football team had more turnovers Friday than some basketball teams?" asked Schuele. "Everytime we got something going we put the ball on the ground for them to pick up."

"I can only say you expect a team to play a bad one once in a while, I hope that this one was ours for the season."

Annapolis got on the scoreboard in the first quarter when Paul Croteau broke loose on a 30-yard touchdown jaunt. The Chiefs tied the game up midway in the next quarter when Keith Fuelling blocked Tony Marjanovich's punt and recovered the loose ball on the Cougar 6-yard line.

Quarterback Smith got the Chiefs on the board on the second play from scrimmage when Jerry Simons picked a hole off-tackle and made it into the end zone from the five yard line.

A bad snap prevented Canton from tying for the extra point.

Annapolis came back after the half and slashed a 6-all knot with two touchdowns in the third period. Greg Salata raced nine yards for one and a halfback pass, Marjanovich to Salata which was good for 44-yards accounted for the second TD of the quarter.

Why the 11 fumbles, (of which Canton retained two of them)?

"The only reason I can pin it down to," explained Schuele is the lack of concentration on part of our players. We had the ball bouncing all over the place."

Rusty Mandle did his job on offense, though, as he chalked up 47 of his team's 136 yards on nine carries. And Smith converted on 10 of 16 passes, with one intercepted, for 110-yards.

Dan Rochowiak recovered a Stevenson fumble on the second play of the game and Pietrzak also state power this year.

Winless, Canton meets Churchill at home Friday night in hopes of snapping out of its doldrums. Churchill is also looking for its initial win.

"We're just going to have to start from scratch," Schuele said. "This is going to be a long season if we don't get back to the basics."

Tecumseh 'steals' one from Huron

It looks like its going to be that kind of year for Coach Tom LeBeau and the New Boston Huron Chiefs.

Enjoying what appeared to be a comfortable 9-point lead against Tecumseh Friday night and with little less than five minutes remaining in the game, Huron fell apart and lost a 13-9 verdict.

"It was unbelievable," said LeBeau. "They scored with five minutes left, then we fumbled in the ensuing series and they took it in and scored the winning touchdown."

That wasn't all.

Quarterback Randy Pichan threw up a desperation pass to Mark Christensen in the closing seconds and the split end nabbed it and broke loose, however, he slipped on the rain-soaked field and fell.

That did it.

Pichan booted a 37-yard field goal in the first quarter to put the Chiefs on the scoreboard, then the senior QB tossed an 8-yard touchdown pass to Mike Knight, lifting Huron to a 13-0 halftime lead.

Huron couldn't get its bogged-down offense untracked in the second half.

LeBeau was satisfied with the over-all performance of his defense but pointed out that 11 penalties "killed us in crucial situation."

"Those miscues broke three substantial drives," said LeBeau.

Both teams had difficulty hanging on to the slippery ball and Tecumseh fumbled seven times with Paul Teague recovering three of those for the Chiefs. Huron gave up the ball six times on fumbles.

The Chiefs take on Monroe Jefferson Friday night in Monroe. The hosts are coming off of an impressive 22-0 victory over Flat Rock.

Turbeville polished off 90-yards in 10 carries and Wilson got credit for 57 in 10 attempts.

Wayne's defense, paced by Chris Leverenz, Doug Ford, Larry Vojtkosky and Mark Zerna counted 10 sacks of the Southgate quarterback and also was responsible for the Sabers leaving the field with minus 39 yards net rushing. Leverenz personally sacked the QB four times for 35 yards and was credited with 12 solo tackles. Ford and Zerna had four and three sacks, respectively.

Korte also saw a TD erased from the boards in the fourth quarter when he tossed 17-yards to Zerna in the end zone. That scoring play was nullified because of a holding penalty.

Wayne caused six Southgate turnovers with Bill Kiesznowski, Ted Savadori and Vojtkosy each picking off one, while Kiesznowski, Leverenz and John Davidson recovered fumbles.

The Zebras' secondary, however, had its problems defending Dave Matt who made six of the eight Saber receptions that accounted for 90 yards.

Chiefs rip Sherwood in opener

The Wayne Chief's opened the 1977-78 Great Lakes Junior "A" Hockey League non-conference phase of the season last Sunday with an impressive 8-1 victory over Sherwood Forest Senior "A's" club.

Pat Behen fired in one goal and received credit for two assists, while Mike Barta accounted for back-to-back goals for the Chiefs.

The Chiefs, coached by Pat Behen, have another exhibition game scheduled for 3:30 p.m., Sun., Sept. 25 at the Wayne Community Center. London, Ontario's Junior Team will provide the competition.

All hockey fans who wear hockey jerseys or jackets to the game will be admitted at half price.

Behen, in his first year as head coach, "feels that our team will be very competitive in the league this season."

First for Wayne's cross country team

Wayne harriers win Schoolcraft Invitational

Blaha leads Zebras to victory with a 1st place finish

Leaving a field of 19 other teams in its wake, Wayne Memorial captured the 12th running of the prestigious Schoolcraft College Invitational Cross Country championships held Saturday at Cass Benton Park.

Though Wayne had come close to winning in previous seasons, it was the first time the Zebra harriers claimed the coveted first place trophy.

"Obviously I'm very pleased by our performance," said Ernie Righetti who is in his inaugural year as head cross country coach but has served as the varsity mentor in track and field the last three years. "I feel that our depth was the key to our victory," Righetti theorized. "We have excellent balance in our lineup, however, I don't believe we are in real good condition."

Righetti pointed out that one of his runners (Ron Mason) is competing with a knee injury.

Wayne garnered 80 team points, 21 more than its closest challenger, Northville, which finished second. Farmington was third with 151. Livonia Franklin, Churchill and Westland John Glenn swept 10th through 12th places, respectively.

Wayne also nailed down the top individual performance thanks to senior Rick Blaha who churned a 15:48 to coast to a relatively easy victory over Thurston's Brian Hess.

Blaha's winning time was posted as 15:48, which was 12 seconds better than Hess' second place finish of 15 minutes even.

"Rick ran a super race," Righetti said. "With one mile left he pulled out by 15 yards and I knew then that no one was going to beat him. You just can't let a runner of Blaha's caliber move ahead by that much and then catch him."

Wayne picked up the 11th, 12th and 13th spots in the race with Doug Tolson (16:26), Ron Mason (16:32) and Paul Spencer (16:33), respectively, while Zebra runners Tim Quaintance was 43rd (17:26) and 60th Mark Michalowski (17:47).

Wayne's winning point total was the lowest ever since the inaugural meet in 1965. Each member of the Wayne varsity team, including its No. 7 runner, Joe Morgan, who finished 92nd (18:29) was awarded a trophy.

Franklin amassed 249 points to earn its 10th place spot at the invitational with the help of Matt Killinger who was 34th (17:16), Rob Klinefelter, 41 (17:25), Wally Niemiec, 54th (17:40), Harold Reich, 57th (17:44) and Chuck Jennet, 63rd (17:50).

"It was a so-so performance by our team, but finishing 10th in a field of 23 teams isn't that bad," commented Bob Holmes, the Patriots' coach. "We would have liked to finish higher, but I know for sure we're going to have to run better than we did here if we want to compete in our league."

Livonia Churchill's Dave Westover also was dissatisfied with the Chargers' efforts.

"I hope we would have done better," Westover said, "I just think we should have had another meet before the invitational. We would have been a little better prepared."

Westover's top runner, Tobin Jones, earned a berth on the All-Invitational team when he finished 10th with a 16:24 clocking. Dennis Flamme turned in a 17:33 for a 52nd place while other Churchill results included a 62 by Ken Gaskell, 66 from Bob Stansberry and a 73 from Kevin Paul.

Zebras too much for Dearbornites

Undefeated Wayne Memorial showed the two Dearborn high schools — Edsel Ford and Dearborn — why it is considered among the finest cross country teams in the state this season.

Coach Ernie Righetti's Zebras trampled Dearborn 16-40 and also won a lopsided 17-39 victory over Edsel Ford. It was the first time in recent memory that any team had beaten the Dearbornites so easily.

Wayne senior Rick Blaha set the pace in both victories. Blaha hit the wire first in the Dearborn meet, crossing the finish line in 15:19. He toured the 3-mile course at Edsel Ford in 15:26.

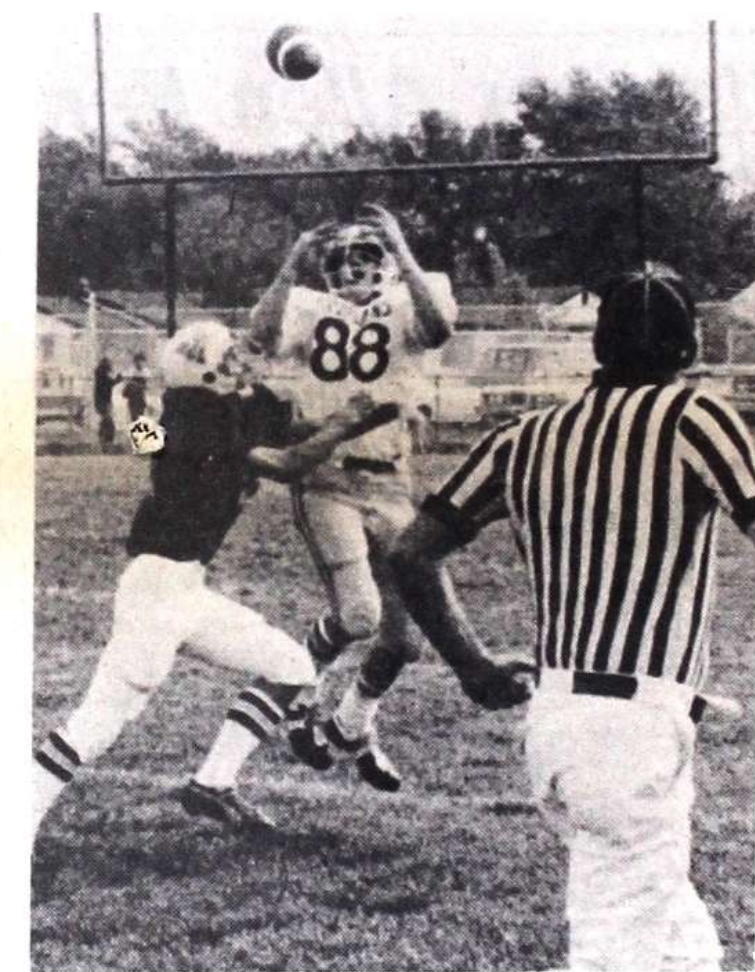

Doug Toldon (15:45), Ron Mason (15:51) and Paul Spencer (16:02) provided the Zebras with a second through fourth finish, respectively, while Tim Quaintance was sixth in 17:39 against Herb Schroeder's Pioneers.

Tolson, Mason and Spencer were second, third and fourth, respectively, and Quaintance was seventh against Edsel Ford.

Dearborn and Edsel are considered the top two teams in the Suburban 8 Conference.

"Our fifth and sixth men are coming along just fine," said Righetti, "and with the emergence of Mark Michalowski, one of our juniors, we now have ample depth."

"I feel our team will also improve as the season gets older. We're really excited about our prospects this year," Righetti added.

Oh, so sweet

Reaching for this aerial from quarterback Scotty Dawson is Cherry Hill end John Sweet (88) whose plans for the completion were spoiled by a Schafer defender that knocked the ball away in the nick of time. Despite the incomplete pass, Sweet and his teammates enjoyed their first victory of the season, winning their Tri-River Conference opener 20-8.

It's all over in the Canton Parks and Recreation's women golf league.

Mary Kay Frey and Sandy Froozan edged Bev Green and Olga Fitzpatrick to claim the title. Ms. Frey shot an actual 50 (net 35 with handicap) to defeat Bev Green who came in with a 51 (net 37).

Meanwhile, Sandy Froozan carded a 56 (net 34) to defeat Fitzpatrick who fired a 62 (net 40).

Sandy and Mary Kay swept all three points in the match to become league champions for the 1977 season.

Hillsdale is banking on ex-Spartan runner

BILL JOHNSON

Former All-Area runner Bill Johnson, who prepped at Cherry Hill, got off to a fast start in his sophomore year at Hillsdale College.

Johnson finished second as the Chargers avenged last year's loss to Taylor University in the dual meet opener for both schools.

Johnson posted a 14:52 for his 3-mile jaunt, almost a half minute faster than his time a year ago.

Bill is entrenched as a solid member of the Hillsdale varsity team which is a member of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Last weekend the Chargers competed in the Eastern Michigan University Open Tournament and their goal this year is to capture the NAIA District 23 championship for an unprecedented fifth consecutive season.

Grissom's world

An arrow that pierces concrete

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

One of the most difficult things to find is a good hunting and fishing buddy who you can stand to be with for two or three days on end.

Or better yet, someone who can stand being with you for any length of time.

I've been running North most of the time with Lance Hinatsu of Sterling Heights. He insults my ability as a boat captain and I insult his ability period. So we get along just fine.

On the ninth of September we went North to troll for chinook. After two days of extremely high wind and even higher waves, we came home without having fished, each blaming the other for the bad weather.

Tired of hearing how I kept him from catching fish I decided to harass him about bowhunting. Lance is an excellent hunter, has shot in competition, and works for Hunter's International, makers of the Furlong stainless steel archery shafts. After hearing my digs all the way home he insisted that I come to their plant in Warren for a demonstration.

Having always hunted with aluminum arrows and being completely satisfied with the results, I doubted his claims of having a substantially better product. After spending an entire afternoon going over various charts and graphs, and conducting some of the tests myself, I came away thoroughly convinced that I will make the switch to stainless steel arrows this year.

The technology of the Appolo moon shot was responsible for the development of a new stainless steel alloy that has an extremely high tensile strength.

Able to withstand the high temperatures of re-entry, this alloy can be drawn by a high heat process into thin walled tubing of exacting tolerances and strength.

After spending over three years in development, they have produced an arrow shaft that is far superior to any material I've seen to date.

One of the first tests I was shown, was the firing of an arrow into a concrete wall. Not only did the arrow stick, it didn't bend or crack. So convinced are they about the durability of their arrow, they offer a free lifetime guarantee should you ever kink, or break one.

Stainless arrows are slower than other materials, but not that much slower than the others. We ran a series of tests where we shot arrows through a machine called a chronograph.

It is able to measure the length of time that the arrow shaft interrupts its light beam, and then give you the speed of that arrow, in feet per second. We found that an aluminum arrow with a 125 grain field point when shot from a No. 62 compound bow traveled at 211 feet per second. A wood shaft with the same weight head was slower at 207 feet per second and the stainless was slowest at an even 200.

I then found out that slowest was best. The smaller diameter of the stainless arrow offers less wind resistance and the higher tensile strength loses kinetic energy at a slower rate. These factors are what really count when that arrow reaches its mark.

The stainless steel shaft struck with seven foot pounds more energy at 20 yards and the proportional amount of difference increased as the distance was lengthened.

What I finally had to conclude was that the stainless steel shaft offers the bowhunter the best deer killing ability and the slightly higher cost is more than offset by the guaranteed.

Another scare

Robichaud rally nips Clarenceville

Robichaud's Bob Yauck will probably be gulping down tranquilizers by the handful if his Bulldogs don't change their erratic ways.

For the second week in the row, Robichaud needed a rally to edge their rivals on the gridiron. Last week they nipped Oak Park 7-6 thanks to a last play touchdown.

On Friday, trailing by as much as 14-0, the Dearborn Heights gridders came back to edge a well-drilled Clarenceville 15-14.

"It could be worse," Yauck said, "we could have lost both games. We had a lot to be concerned about," Yauck continued, "But, for the first time this year I feel our football team has jelled. Some of our younger ballplayers are beginning to play up to their potential."

Robichaud will launch its 1977 Suburban Athletic Conference season Friday at 3:30 p.m., clashing with arch-rival, Inkster, on the Viking field.

Of the pending showdown, Yauck said, "It really doesn't matter what record these two teams bring into that one game — it's always a hard-fought battle. For the past seven games that I have been involved in, the games have been decided by one of less TDs with the exception of one."

Clarenceville looked as if it was going to humiliate its visitors last Friday as Tim McCamment scored on the second play from scrimmage on a 55-yard jaunt. The hosts, who had 94 yards rushing in the first 16 minutes of the game, then built up a 14-0 lead early in the third quarter thanks to a 20-yard screen pass from quarterback Jim Beyer to fullback Russ LaLondie.

Robichaud, which came within inches from scoring in the first half — quarterback Alvin Carter teamed up with Darryl Goree on a 40-yard pass that put Goree on the one inch line before he was tackled as the half ended — finally broke the ice midway in the third quarter.

Carter capped a 65-yard drive and went into for a TD from one-yard out for the Bulldogs initial touchdown. Mark Woodson then scored the two-point conversion to make it a 14-8 ball game.

Robichaud scored what proved to be the tying TD and the winning touchdown with 10 minutes left in the game.

A broken play and mid-air fumble resulted in the decisive score. Fullback Roger McGhee broke loose from mid-field and scrambled 20-yards and was tackled, fumbling the ball. The ball was nabbed by Goree who raced 30-yards into the end zone.

Bob Yauck, the coach's son, booted the extra point which stood up as the difference in the game.

The Bulldogs threatened once more after that when they drove to the Clarenceville one-yard line but a procedural penalty and a couple of miscues drove them back.

"Clarenceville dominated the game the first 18 minutes," said Yauck, "then we managed to adjust and played well, dominating the game from thereon. Clarenceville had minus 25 yardage rushing in the fourth quarter to indicate just how well our defense adjusted."

Robichaud's secondary also played an exceptional game as it counted for interceptions — two by Terry Ross and one each by Carter (his second of the season) and Goree.

Yauck continued his fine display of punting as he kicked four times, each averaging 43 yards.

Robichaud had the edge in first downs 12-7 and total yardage 288 to 192. The Bulldogs sustained three penalties for 35 yards as compared to Clarenceville's seven for 55 yards.

Watt-Karen maintain lead in Canton golf

Despite a split with Gordon Lapierre and Joe Argonis, league-leading Bruce Watt and Karen remain the team to beat in the Canton Parks and Recreation men's golf league.

Karen and Watt have garnered 24½ points and have a 2-point lead over a pair of challengers — Ron Cundiff and Wolford, and Tetsworth and Oberhelman who are tied for second place (22½).

The second place team of Paul Oberhelman and Lynn Tetsworth struggled in their last outing, managing only one point from Dennis Stuebben and Fritz Gerth.

Cundiff and Joe Hulack picked up 1½ points in their final match of the season with Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets, moving them into a 2-way tie for second place with Tetsworth and Oberhelman.

Roger Wallace carded the best round of the week as he turned in a 40. Jim Young and Hulack tied for the second best round as they both fired 41s at Fellows Creek.

Here are last week's results: Eminger and Sheets 3, Cundiff and Wolford 2; Ryan and White 3, Blumenshine and Grahm 2; Patalidis and Seewald 3, Mogelnick and Riggs 2; Matson and Melling 5, Mooney and Zelek 0; Koers and Koers 3, Carrigan and Mattingly 2; Gerth and Stubben 4, Oberhelman and Tetsworth 1; Horrey and Wallace 5, Slade and Wilson 0.

Other scores were: Valenti and Kraft 3, Canning and Young 2; Legg and Spinella 4½, Rehberg and Hoffman ½; Karen and Watt 2½, Agronis and Lapierre 2½.

Here are the standings after six weeks of competition: Karen and Watt — 24½, Cundiff and Wolford — 22½, Tetsworth and Oberhelman — 22½, Lapierre and Argonis — 20, Ryan and White — 19½, Valenti and Kraft — 18, Matson and Melling — 17, Stubben and Gerth — 16½, Eminger and Sheets — 16½, Wallace and Horrey — 13½, Canning and Young — 12½, Legg and Spinella — 12½, Patalidis and Seewald — 10½, Wilson and Slade — 10, Mogelnick and Riggs — 7½ and Hoffman and Rehberg — 6½.
